Bond sales pass $80,000; going strong

War plant aids cause by purchase of 650 bonds

Arlington Heights is on the road to reach its quota of 3rd war bond sales. As the Herald goes to press the thermometer reads $80,000 and the business district is yet to be heard from. A number of Chicago firms with business interests in Arlington Heights are making purchases through the Arlington Heights National Bank in order that the community receives credit for the sale.

Through the efforts of Arthur Franzen, executive vice president of the National Bank a neighboring war plant purchased 650 bonds for the account of their employees, which helped to boost the bond sales. The bank had not the clerical help to type the bonds and three women volunteered to aid in the work. They were Mrs. Frank Seaterhenn, Mrs. Geo. K. Volz and Mrs. George Tuttle.

Arlington Heights Fire Department is a second civic body to put part of its surplus funds into 3rd war loan bonds. The village had previously purchased two thousand dollar bonds. It is expected that similar action will be taken by other groups before the end of the drive.

The business district is being visited this week. Pledges are mounting, but the totals shown on the thermometer are for actual cash invested.

Chairman Geo. K. Volz is confident that the quota assigned to Arlington Heights will be met. He praises the volunteer workers. They are saying little about those prizes of war bonds that have been hung up by the local OCD. Their primary desire is to serve their country on the home front.

"The prizes," states N. M. Lattof, OCD chairman, "are an extra incentive to do a thorough job. The relative standing of the salesmen will not be revealed until near the end of the campaign ge actual bond purchases are necessary, not mere pledges."

Band members see former president off to the army

Two recent graduates of Arlington Heights high school left Wednesday morning for Camp Grant after their 21-day furlough, which followed their induction September 1. Nearly twenty members of the high school band were present to see James C. Scott, their former president and assistant leader, off to the army. Scott was a member of the class of '43. The other boy leaving was Roy C. Beese of the class of '42.

Mt. Prospect V.F.W. host at Sept. 20 induction

Mt. Prospect Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was host Monday morning to the 37 men who were inducted into service that day. Rev. J. E. A. Mueller, pastor of Mt. Prospect St. Paul's church, gave the talk to the departing boys. It was short, to the point and very appropriate. Bundles for America were present and distributed kits to each of those leaving. One of the mothers officiated at the piano for the singing. Preceeded by the American Legion colors the induction group accompanied by their friends marched to the depot. The majority of the men were given the customary 21-day furlough.

Three more polio cases in Barrington

Three more polio cases developed in Barrington this week.

Two of the children live across the street of one of those reported last week. They are Eleanor, 6, and William Terry, 2, McCarthy. They were taken to Evanston. The third case is Pauline Speck, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Speck, a sophomore, who was taken to the Michael Reese hospital Tuesday.

Maureen Mackay, 12, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Robert Mackay, of Biltmore, was taken ill last week and is in Michael Reese hospital. A total of six Barrington people have become ill of the disease.

Mrs. Ethel Dunne, 48, Wauconda died of polio Sunday at a Waukegan hospital.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED TO ARLINGTON RECREATION

An overheated motor caused a lot of smoke early Monday afternoon at Arlington Recreation. Damage was confined to the motor. Fire department answered the call.

Rev. Fricke awaits call as army chaplain

Parishioners were advised of his intentions Sunday

Rev. Fricke, pastor of Arlington Heights St. Peter church, advised his parishioners at the morning service Sunday that it is his desire to serve his country and particularly the boys in service as a chaplain.

The congregation has been asked to grant him a leave of absence for the duration. The pastor has taken the various tests and physical examinations required, passing all of them, sufficiently high, according to army officers, to qualify him for active service on the battle fronts.

Rev. Fricke told his congregation Sunday that he had given the matter considerable thought. The receipt of many letters from boys in service to him as their pastor in which they frankly state the desire on the part of so many boys for spiritual guidance has awakened in him the realization of a responsibility that the church owes to these boys. As a man of the church he is ready to accompany the men in arms on the battle field and share with them their physical dangers in order that he can give to them spiritual solace at a time when they need it.

The pastor has a son in the service who has repeatedly in letters home, told of the spiritual need of the men. Army officials are welcoming as chaplains pastors of mature age which they have found get the confidence of the men to a greater extent than the young men who are just out of theological school.

All steps have been taken by the Arlington Heights pastor required of a volunteer to enter service as a chaplain. He must now await action by Washington on the application for commission which carries with it the rank and remuneration of a first lieutenant.

Max Warson was injured when running for train

Max Warson is getting around on crutches since Sept. 12, when he fell over a wire at the R. R. park when running for a train. Max caught the train and it was two hours later when the pain in his knee apprised him of the seriousness of the injury received.

The wire was placed there to discourage the public from using an extra path through the park. Many people still use the impromptu path avoiding the wire. The path and wire were all new to Warson.

It is housecleaning time at fieldhouse

Arlington Heights field house is closed this week to all functions. It is housecleaning time. All the floors are being sanded and refinished. The south clubroom is being redecorated throughout. With the use of varnish and elbow grease the interior of the building will be spic and span for the winter season.

The field house is being used more and more each year and will be a busy place many afternoons and evenings this fall and winter.

Merchants make football program possible here

Arlington Heights merchants have cooperated to sponsor the high school football program. Without that cooperation such a program, to be issued at every home game, would not have been possible.

Ken Barnhill, head coach, wishes to take this method of conveying his thanks to the various businessmen advertising in the program. These programs will be presented to everyone attending the first home game this Friday, with Libertyville the opponent.

Barrington OK's increase tax for park board

Voters of Barrington Park district approved last Saturday additional taxes for the district. The total increase is 1½ mills. One-half mill will be for maintenance expenses and a mill will be for recreation purposes. The district has had difficulty in operating the swimming pool, which was only saved the last two years by popular subscriptions.

Rubbish pick-up

The fall pickup of rubbish in Arlington Heights will take place Oct. 4 to 9. No second call can be made; as meter reading starts Oct. 11. Those residing south of the track should have rubbish on their curbs by Monday, Oct. 4. Collection will be Oct. 4, 5 and 6; northside Oct. 7, 8 and 9.

Fire prevention week opens Oct. 3

RICHARD JAHN

The summer has gone, autumn, then winter; and with the possibility of coal rationing we may be forced to resort to burning corncobs, rubbish, anything to keep warm which makes it more important now than ever to prevent fires.

During Fire Prevention Week let each of us set aside one day to inspect the premises from the attic to the basement, clean out the rubbish centers, examine the chimney at the roof, floors and ceilings for cracks; throw out the old paint and oil cans, fix the smokepipe and heating plant, the wiring on plug-in electric appliances, always remembering that while we may have many things to do treacherous old man FIRE is stil with us.

The majority of the fires in homes can be traced to eight major causes listed below in approximate order of their importance. Correct them.

1. Rubbish.
2. Defective chimney.
3. Combustible roofs.
4. Defective heating apparatus.
5. Matches and careless smoking
6. Gasoline, kerosene, etc.
7. Electrical defects.
8. Hot ashes.

Parish celebrates 25th anniversary of Rev. Stier

Rev. Geoge J. Stier had many surprises two days before the silver jubilee date of his ordination, Sept. 21, 1918. His parishioners had a celebration planned for him Sunday, Sept. 19.

Sunday began with solemn high mass at 9 a. m. Father Stier's brother, Rev. Aloysius Stier came in from Skokie to serve as deacon, and Rev. Andrew Stutzke from Des Plaines served as sub-deacon.

When Father Stier walked into the church he found the sanctuary had been beautifully decorated with gladiolas and silver by the convent nuns. The singing of the boys vested choir could have been that of the famed Chicago Paulist choir, acording to Father Stier.

Evening party

In the evening the parishioners staged their own celebration in the hall below the rectory. Twenty-five little girls, each representing a year of Father Stier's active priesthood, led him down the stairs as everyone shouted "surprise."

Barbara Lyon presented him with a bouquet of red roses, after which be was given a purse from the parish as a whole. Father Stier had known nothing of these plans, and was completely overwhelmed.

Mel Rateike's orchestra played at the dance which folowed. Sandwiches and beverages were served later. These plans had been made by the Holy Name Society and the Women's guild.

Achievements

Father Stier has been in Arlington Heights for eight years as pastor. His greatest achievement has been clearing the church of $42,000 debt it had when he came. Now he plans to start a fund towards a convent for the Sisters who are now living in the school building.

Also since his coming, the church has been redecorated within and without, and the front of the rectory has been enlarged and rebuilt. Says Father Stier, "It pays to show a good front."

The parochial elementary school has reached a peak enrollment with 221 pupils this year. The school itself was made larger by workers of the congregation at a cost of $1,600. Father Stier points to this building with pride, stating that building contractors value the work at $4,000.

Mission parish

For one year, Father Stier was also in charge of a mission parish in Palatine. Under his guidance, a new church building was built there, and a regular pastor was sent to take charge of it.

Father Stier's congregation now numbers about 350 families, he has eight nuns to assist him, and an assistant priest comes from Techny, Ill., on week-ends to help serve the four masses.

"I like Arlington Heights," he says, "and hope to be here long enough to see both a new convent and church built. The people have become very kind."

Dental Survey opens year's program

The Arlington Heights school dental program is off to a good start this week in the dental survey that is being carried on in the four elementary schools.

The survey began Monday in the north side school where 206 children had their teeth examined by Dr. Baumann and Dr. Dunn. On Tuesday the same dentists made examinations in St. Peters school while on Wednesday and Thursday, Dr. Bostian will do the surveys in the south and St. James schools. All of these dentists give their time for this work as a community service. The following ladies are volunteering their services as clerks, assisting the dentists: Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Peroutka, and Mrs. Jones.

This year at the close of school in June, children were urged to have their dental work done during the summer if possible, so as to prevent crowding the dentist's offices at the end of the day after school.

As a result of the dental work done during the summer many children could be omitted from the dental survey this year.

Following these dental examinations, cards indicating the findings of the survey will be sent home with the pupils urging the parents to have their defects corrected as soon as possible.

The dental health program in the Arlington Heights schools is bringing in such worthwhile results that each school is making plans and endeavoring to make this another banner year in dental health.

$25 bond to be given away at store opening

To the holder of the lucky ticket will be given a free $25 war bond, promises Christen's food shop. The tickets will be given to customers on the day the store opens, Saturday, Sept. 25, and the winner will be announced that evening.

However, this is not the only lure of the new Christen store moved from the Highway to 3 W. Campbell. The new store has all the space which was found lacking in the older place, and will be able to accommodate the expanding grocery-delicatessen business operated by the Christens.

A goodly stock of supplies has been laid in by Mr. Christen. A half page announcement in this week's Herald tells of delicious cheeses, fruits and vegetables, dairy products, bakery goods, assorted cold meats, and ice creams. Both old and new patrons will be welcomed at the opening. There are no strings tied to the war bond to be given away.

Blame the demons for lack of heat at village hall

If visitors at the municipal building do not get as warm a greeting there this week as is customarily accorded all who enter, blame the demons who John Firnbach says have had a finger in the pie of the heating plant. "They arrived last spring and are still with us," says John.

They, the demons, supervised the dismantling of the boiler last spring because the boiler inspector was scheduled to make his yearly visit.

The boiler cooled, the demons brought a cold snap, and chilled the children's clinic upstairs which was also due for inspection. So Bill Luehring saw to it that the grates were put back into the boiler and the fires were started again.

At this point the demons brought the insurance inspector. He could not climb inside the boiler when the fires were going. He could not inspect until after his three month vacation.

He would return. So again Custodian John Firnbach pulled out the 100 lb. grates to cool the boiler. Two weeks ago, Wm. P. Congdon, of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company, arrived.

He crawled into the cooled boiler, he saw to it that welders worked on the boiler's seams and that they rolled the flues. He ordered a new fire-arch.

The demons saw to it that firearches are made of pli-brico which comes from Chicago, but only after much patience. It has not come. It is hard to be patient in the cold and those in the Municipal building are wearing their red flannels.

Aldermen step lively to keep warm

Arlington Heights village board did not waste any time in transacting their routine business Monday evening. A temperature in the neighborhood of fifty degrees due to delay in heating repairs, speeded up the business of the evening. When the street committee reported that tractor repairs were needed if snow is to be plowed this winter, there was no hesitancy in O. K.ing the repairs. The "frozen" aldermen would not have been surprised if snow was already falling. The committee was authorized to purchase five tons of cold lay patching material.

Mr. Joseph Wisersky and Mr. Christ Madsen appeared before the board, asking for a more diligent effort to collect much needed waste paper. President Goedke referred them to the Salvage committee of the OCD.

A petition was tendered requesting permission to convert the residence of Mrs. Walter H. Dick, N. State rd., to a two flat. The sketch and petition was referred to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a recommendation.

Mr. Griffith reported that the roof on the municipal building garage would be repaired within a few days, weather permitting.

An ordinance was passed designating the village clerk as registrar of births, deaths, stillbirths, etc., in conformity with State legislation requiring the passage of such an ordinance to accept delayed registrations of births locally, and issuing of certified copies.

Six large maps of the village are to be purchased at a cost of $3 or $4 each to accommodate several requests for same.

A permit for a gravel walk along the Northwest highway, from Stonegate to Douglas ave., was referred to the Street committee to discuss with the Scarsdale Improvement Association.

The payroll listing bills totalling $4,024.09 was approved for payment. Listed on the payroll was the purchase of two Series "f" War Bonds, financed from Water department funds.

A delinquent list of the water department totalling $700.00 was referred to Wm. W. Luehring, Supt. for collection.

Legion delegates leave for Omaha

Carrying the mandates of the 9th district of the American Legion and the Department of Illinois to Omaha for the National Wartime conference, the following elected delegates entrained this week.

Past 9th District Commander Wm. Kroll of Melin-Romer Post, 9th District Commander Paul Carroll of Merle Guild Post, Past 9th District Adjutant, Irwin Harland of Gen. George Bell Jr. Post, Harry Jansen of Conley Post, F. R. Wetterman of Des Plaines Post.

Foremost for National Conference action will be the formulating of expanded plans for World War 2 Veterans relief and rehabilitation, and insistance upon proper re-employment facilities.

Commander Carroll, Arlington Heights, of the 9th District said, "We're not only out for a square deal for the returning veteran, but we must make sure he gets the preferred help and assistance from every government agency to which he is justly entitled. During times of war it's easy to do a lot of flag waving and when peace comes it is too easy to forget an obligation to our country's heroes. This National Conference will take the first step in seeing that proper legislation is started to protect our Veterans now. When they all come home the American Legion wants every needed legislation passed by Congress and functioning.

Lutherans to hold rally day Sunday

Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock St. Peter's Lutheran church will be crowded to capacity by the pupils of the Sunday school, their parents and friends. This is the annual Rally Day Sunday, on which the entire school joins in worship with the congregation.

All features of the Rally will stress a devotional attitude, using the regular morning order of devotion. The lower classes will offer songs and recitation, while the upper groups a catechization on the basic Bible doctrines "The Christian Way to God," prepared especially for the occasion.

Both Sunday schools will participate in the worship program. All pupils will assemble in their class rooms at the regular time for final rehearsal. Then they will proceed in a body to the church building, entering with a processional hymn.

Marine calls volunteer

Heights offered OCD pump and fire fighting equipment

Will include hose, ladders, gas masks, other equipment

The strategic location of the village of Arlington Heights has brought about the offer by the state fire coordinator of an auxiliary OCD front-end fire fighting unit, including hose, ladders, pumps, cans, flashlights, gas masks, and other paraphernalia which is a part of each OCD pumper unit. There is no string tied to the offer, except that the municipality shall provide the chassis and designated the local fire chief, Richard H. Jahn, as local property officer.

Since Pearl Harbor, similar equipment has been assigned by the government to larger cities of the country. Recently, excess outfits, which the government owned, but never used, are being offered to municipalities which are in the war plant areas and so centrally located that they could help neighboring towns.

The offer to Mayor Goedke and Fire Chief Richard Jahn came from John H. Craig, state fire coordinator who is the state fire marshal and cognizant of the strength, experience and training that the local firemen possess. It has been no secret that Mr. Jahn has been after the equipment for some time and he is very much pleased over the success that has met his efforts. There will be sufficient equipment in the way of gas masks, rubber coats, etc., to fit out the firemen.

Mr. Jahn and the aldermen are now looking for a chassis. The state fire coordinator notified the village that he is ready to make the allocation to this city and will ask the Washington office, thru the regional office for approval that is certain to be given.

Need wastepaper immediately for war program

An urgent appeal to business men in the Chicago area to place their influence behind the national waste paper salvage drive was voiced today by Walter P. Paepcke, president of the Container Corporation of America.

Faced with increasing demands for packing and shipping materials for the conduct of the war and supplying essential civilian needs, Mr. Paepcke points out that great quantities of containers carrying supplies to the armed forces abroad cannot be salvaged. Consequently, it is imperative, he says, that more waste paper must be saved or production will be seriously curtailed. There is definitely a serious waste paper shortage. Continuing, Mr. Paepcke, said:

"The paperboard industry is the principal consumer of waste paper, from which a large proportion of its product is made in whole or in part. The paperboard industry and its associated fabricating plants produce a major part of the packages, containers and protective devices which make the transport of merchandise possible in our present day economy, whether for war or for essential civilian trade.

"The war cannot be conducted nor the civilian population supported without an adequate supply of freight cars, trucks and ships; neither can the war go on nor the civilian population be supplied without an adequate production of packing and shipping material.

"Of increasing concern to government officials, military agencies, and industrialists has been the growing shortage of paperboard containers and packages. The total demand this year is estimated at about 8 million tons, but at its present rate of operations the industry will be able to produce only about 7½ million tons of product, and the situation seems to become more critical each week. This shortage has been caused by the increasing demands of our war industries, coupled with a decreasing supply of raw materials, accentuated by the inability to salvage containers carrying supplies to the armed forces abroad.

"The growing shortage of waste paper may make it impossible to continue at present manufacturing schedules. Some mills operating seven days a week have had to curtail schedules to six or five days a week and in some cases appreciable shut-downs have been occasioned by lack of this primary raw material.

"A large part of these present difficulties may be overcome with the co-operation of industry and the public. It is estimated that we salvage less than one-third of the paper consumed in the United States. A substantial part of the waste paper that is now being destroyed can be salvaged and turned into the channels of trade. To this end an advertising program is being financed by a group of leading paperboard mills cooperating with the National Salvage Program of the War Production Board. It is believed that the public will respend generously to these appeals.

"Specifically, I urge the business men of the Chicago area to lend their support to this campaign in every way possible. Every commercial and industrial user of paper or paperboard products should make sure that all useful waste is finding its way into channels of salvage and trade. Every business man can add his individual weight to the consumer salvage program, which will solicit the cooperation of every household, and encourage schools, Boy Scouts, churches, and organized charities in their efforts to supplement the activities of the waste material dealers."

Arlington Heights OCD realizes the importance of present paper salvage and hopes to be able to announce a plan of collection very soon. Due to the few people who are unemployed Saturdays, they are finding it difficult to secure a chairman.

The general public is asked to again start saving their old paper including such waste paper as bags, cartons, etc. Announcement of collection date will appear in the Herald.

The Bundles for America will hold a bake sale at the Public Service of Northern Illinois, Oct. 2, 9:30 a. m. and all day. Any contributions will be gladly accepted.

War training classes at Maine October 11

Courses open without tuition

Registrations for the approaching War Training courses which will be conducted by the extension division of the University of Illinois at Maine Township high school, Des Plaines, will be accepted at the high school office from 7 to 9 p. m. on September 28, 29, and 30. Classes will begin Monday evening, October 11.

This is the first time that engineering, science and industrial management courses, on the college level, have been offered in this community and men and women with a high school education or equivalent are urged by H. P. Harshbarger, local co-ordinator, to avail themselves of this unusual opportunity for free training, if they are at present actively engaged in war industry or not.

Some of the advanced science and engineering subjects, however, will require a certain amount of practical experience in addition to a high school education.

The subjects which will be offered according to C. D. McMurry, special representative of the University of Illinois extension division, who is setting up similar War Training programs at other large suburban high schools in the Chicago area are: Radio Technology, Engineering Chemistry, Industrial Accounting, Industrial Cost Accounting, Engineering Drafting, Industrial Supervision for Prospective Foremen, Personnel and Industrial Relations, Time and Motion Study, Elementary Tool Design, Engineering Math, Metallurgy of Iron and Steel, Engineering Mechanics, Hydraulics, and Electrical Engineering.

Women invited

It is not the purpose of this training program, backed by federal appropriations amounting to $25,000,000 for the present school year, to turn out degree engineers in ten to sixteen weeks, but to assist in the training of persons in technical and semi-technical positions which have been and will be created as a result of the war effort. The courses will concentrate on immediate practical application to war jobs.

The need for adequate technical man-power is acute as indicated by the fact that the major war industry establishment attempted

25 women sponsor war loan sale advertisement

For the first time in the history of Paddock Publications, women are exclusively sponsoring a paid advertisement in the Herald. Twenty-five Arlington Heights women have made possible the publication of the page announcement in the interest of the Third War Bond sale that appears on page eight of this issue.

Those interviewed appeared to be glad to give their approval of the advertising program that the treasury department has furnished weekly newspapers with the request that local sponsors be secured. The names of the persons contacted were taken from the membership list of a local civic organization. Those missed will perhaps participate next time.

The publishers had no desire to profit by "overselling" of the sponsorship and received only the regular page price for the advertisement.

Service stations ask help of gas customers

With a lot of motorists filling up their tanks Tuesday, the last day for use of the No. 7 A coupons gas station attendants could not give their usual quick service because so many patrons had failed to place their license number on the face of their coupons.

The OPA has ruled that all gas coupon holders must place their license numbers on all of their coupons as soon as they receive them from the ration board. Gas stations are not supposed to accept coupons that do not have them properly entered.

The local gas stations do not make the rules; they have to follow them and a little cooperation on the part of motorists will save the station owners a lot of inconvenience and also time of the car owners when waiting to be serviced.

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM COUNTY JAIL

Escape of a prisoner from the "dilapidated county jail" last week brought to light an interesting method of escape from the Lake county jail.

The suspected robber had bored through the ceiling of his cell on the third floor of the jail, through the tin roof, broke into the attic of the sheriff's residence next door. He then pushed through a partition to a clothes closet, into a bed room, and walked down the stairs and out the front door while the sheriff and family were eating dinner. He has not been caught, as yet.

Applications will be accepted at the Arlington Heights postoffice to fill an existing vacancy on the "mounted route." Applicant must be physically able to drive the truck and handle the mail which includes delivery of the parcel post. Full details and full information can be secured at the office. Immediate action is desired in order that the present service be not impaired.

Bond sales pass $80,000; going strong

War plant aids cause by purchase of 650 bonds

Arlington Heights is on the road to reach its quota of 3rd war bond sales. As the Herald goes to press the thermometer reads $80,000 and the business district is yet to be heard from. A number of Chicago firms with business interests in Arlington Heights are making purchases through the Arlington Heights National Bank in order that the community receives credit for the sale.

Through the efforts of Arthur Franzen, executive vice president of the National Bank a neighboring war plant purchased 650 bonds for the account of their employees, which helped to boost the bond sales. The bank had not the clerical help to type the bonds and three women volunteered to aid in the work. They were Mrs. Frank Sesterhenn, Mrs. Geo. K. Volz and Mrs. George Tuttle.

Arlington Heights Fire Department is a second civic body to put part of its surplus funds into 3rd war loan bonds. The village had previously purchased two thousand dollar bonds. It is expected that similar action will be taken by other groups before the end of the drive.

The business district is being visited this week. Pledges are mounting, but the totals shown on the thermometer are for actual cash invested.

Chairman Geo. K. Volz is confident that the quota assigned to Arlington Heights will be met. He praises the volunteer workers. They are saying little about those prizes of war bonds that have been hung up by the local OCD. Their primary desire is to serve their country on the home front.

"The prizes," states N. M. Lattof, OCD chairman, "are an extra incentive to do a thorough job. The relative standing of the salesmen will not be revealed until near the end of the campaign as actual bond purchases are necessary, not mere pledges."

Band members see former president off to the army

Two recent graduates of Arlington Heights high school left Wednesday morning for Camp Grant after their 21-day furlough, which followed their induction September 1. Nearly twenty members of the high school band were present to see James C. Scott, their former president and assistant leader, off to the army. Scott was a member of the class of '43. The other boy leaving was Roy C. Beese of the class of '42.

Mt. Prospect V.F.W. host at Sept. 20 induction

Mt. Prospect Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was host Monday morning to the 37 men who were inducted into service that day. Rev. J. E. A. Mueller, pastor of Mt. Prospect St. Paul's church, gave the talk to the departing boys. It was short, to the point and very appropriate. Bundles for America were present and distributed kits to each of those leaving. One of the mothers officiated at the piano for the singing. Preceeded by the American Legion colors the induction group accompanied by their friends marched to the depot. The majority of the men were given the customary 21-day furlough.

Rev. Fricke awaits call as army chaplain

Parishioners were advised of his intentions Sunday

Rev. Fricke, pastor of Arlington Heights St. Peter church, advised his parishioners at the morning service Sunday that it is his desire to serve his country and particularly the boys in service as a chaplain.

The congregation has been asked to grant him a leave of absence for the duration. The pastor has taken the various tests and physical examinations required, passing all of them, sufficiently high, according to army officers, to qualify him for active service on the battle fronts.

Rev. Fricke told his congregation Sunday that he had given the matter considerable thought. The receipt of many letters from boys in service to him as their pastor in which they frankly state the desire on the part of so many boys for spiritual guidance has awakened in him the realization of a responsibility that the church owes to these boys. As a man of the church he is ready to accompany the men in arms on the battle field and share with them their physical dangers in order that he can give to them spiritual solace at a time when they need it.

The pastor has a son in the service who has repeatedly in letters home, told of the spiritual need of the men. Army officials are welcoming as chaplains pastors of mature age which they have found get the confidence of the men to a greater extent than the young men who are just out of theological school.

All steps have been taken by the Arlington Heights pastor required of a volunteer to enter service as a chaplain. He must now await action by Washington on the application for commission which carries with it the rank and remuneration of a first lieutenant.

Dental Survey opens year's program

The Arlington Heights school dental program is off to a good start this week in the dental survey that is being carried on in the four elementary schools.

The survey began Monday in the north side school where 206 children had their teeth examined by Dr. Baumann and Dr. Dunn. On Tuesday the same dentists made examinations in St. Peters school while on Wednesday and Thursday, Dr. Bostian will do the surveys in the south and St. James schools. All of these dentists give their time for this work as a community service. The following ladies are volunteering their services as clerks, assisting the dentists: Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Peroutka, and Mrs. Jones.

This year at the close of school in June, children were urged to have their dental work done during the summer if possible, so as to prevent crowding the dentist's offices at the end of the day after school.

As a result of the dental work done during the summer many children could be omitted from the dental survey this year.

Following these dental examinations, cards indicating the findings of the survey will be sent home with the pupils urging the parents to have their defects corrected as soon as possible.

The dental health program in the Arlington Heights schools is bringing in such worthwhile results that each school is making plans and endeavoring to make this another banner year in dental health.

Aldermen step lively to keep warm

Arlington Heights village board did not waste any time in transacting their routine business Monday evening. A temperature in the neighborhood of fifty degrees due to delay in heating repairs, speeded up the business of the evening. When the street committee reported that tractor repairs were needed if snow is to be plowed this winter, there was no hesitancy in O. K.ing the repairs. The "frozen" aldermen would not have been surprised if snow was already falling. The committee was authorized to purchase five tons of cold lay patching material.

Mr. Joseph Wisersky and Mr. Christ Madsen appeared before the board, asking for a more diligent effort to collect much needed waste paper. President Goedke referred them to the Salvage committee of the OCD.

A petition was tendered requesting permission to convert the residence of Mrs. Walter H. Dick, N. State rd., to a two flat. The sketch and petition was referred to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a recommendation.

Mr. Griffith reported that the roof on the municipal building garage would be repaired within a few days, weather permitting.

An ordinance was passed designating the village clerk as registrar of births, deaths, stillbirths, etc., in conformity with State legislation requiring the passage of such an ordinance to accept delayed registrations of births locally, and issuing of certified copies.

Six large maps of the village are to be purchased at a cost of $3 or $4 each to accommodate several requests for same.

A permit for a gravel walk along the Northwest highway, from Stonegate to Douglas ave., was referred to the Street committee to discuss with the Scarsdale Improvement Association.

The payroll listing bills totalling $4,024.09 was approved for payment. Listed on the payroll was the purchase of two Series "f" War Bonds, financed from Water department funds.

A delinquent list of the water department totalling $700.00 was referred to Wm. W. Luehring, Supt. for collection.

Heights offered OCD pump and fire fighting equipment

Will include hose, ladders, gas masks, other equipment

The strategic location of the village of Arlington Heights has brought about the offer by the state fire coordinator of an auxiliary OCD front-end fire fighting unit, including hose, ladders, pumps, cans, flashlights, gas masks, and other paraphernalia which is a part of each OCD pumper unit. There is no string tied to the offer, except that the municipality shall provide the chassis and designated the local fire chief, Richard H. Jahn, as local property officer.

Since Pearl Harbor, similar equipment has been assigned by the government to larger cities of the country. Recently, excess outfits, which the government owned, but never used, are being offered to municipalities which are in the war plant areas and so centrally located that they could help neighboring towns.

The offer to Mayor Goedke and Fire Chief Richard Jahn came from John H. Craig, state fire coordinator who is the state fire marshal and cognizant of the strength, experience and training that the local firemen possess. It has been no secret that Mr. Jahn has been after the equipment for some time and he is very much pleased over the success that has met his efforts. There will be sufficient equipment in the way of gas masks, rubber coats, etc., to fit out the firemen.

Mr. Jahn and the aldermen are now looking for a chassis. The state fire coordinator notified the village that he is ready to make the allocation to this city and will ask the Washington office, thru the regional office for approval that is certain to be given.

Need wastepaper immediately for war program

An urgent appeal to business men in the Chicago area to place their influence behind the national waste paper salvage drive was voiced today by Walter P. Paepcke, president of the Container Corporation of America.

Faced with increasing demands for packing and shipping materials for the conduct of the war and supplying essential civilian needs, Mr. Paepcke points out that great quantities of containers carrying supplies to the armed forces abroad cannot be salvaged. Consequently, it is imperative, he says, that more waste paper must be saved or production will be seriously curtailed. There is definitely a serious waste paper shortage. Continuing, Mr. Paepcke, said:

"The paperboard industry is the principal consumer of waste paper, from which a large proportion of its product is made in whole or in part. The paperboard industry and its associated fabricating plants produce a major part of the packages, containers and protective devices which make the transport of merchandise possible in our present day economy, whether for war or for essential civilian trade.

"The war cannot be conducted nor the civilian population supported without an adequate supply of freight cars, trucks and ships; neither can the war go on nor the civilian population be supplied without an adequate production of packing and shipping material.

"Of increasing concern to government officials, military agencies, and industrialists has been the growing shortage of paperboard containers and packages. The total demand this year is estimated at about 8 million tons, but at its present rate of operations the industry will be able to produce only about 7½ million tons of product, and the situation seems to become more critical each week. This shortage has been caused by the increasing demands of our war industries, coupled with a decreasing supply of raw materials, accentuated by the inability to salvage containers carrying supplies to the armed forces abroad.

"The growing shortage of waste paper may make it impossible to continue at present manufacturing schedules. Some mills operating seven days a week have had to curtail schedules to six or five days a week and in some cases appreciable shut-downs have been occasioned by lack of this primary raw material.

"A large part of these present difficulties may be overcome with the co-operation of industry and the public. It is estimated that we salvage less than one-third of the paper consumed in the United States. A substantial part of the waste paper that is now being destroyed can be salvaged and turned into the channels of trade. To this end an advertising program is being financed by a group of leading paperboard mills cooperating with the National Salvage Program of the War Production Board. It is believed that the public will respond generously to these appeals.

"Specifically, I urge the business men of the Chicago area to lend their support to this campaign in every way possible. Every commercial and industrial user of paper or paperboard products should make sure that all useful waste is finding its way into channels of salvage and trade. Every business man can add his individual weight to the consumer salvage program, which will solicit the cooperation of every household, and encourage schools, Boy Scouts, churches, and organized charities in their efforts to supplement the activities of the waste material dealers."

Arlington Heights OCD realizes the importance of present paper salvage and hopes to be able to announce a plan of collection very soon. Due to the few people who are unemployed Saturdays, they are finding it difficult to secure a chairman.

The general public is asked to again start saving their old paper including such waste paper as bags, cartons, etc. Announcement of collection date will appear in the Herald.

War training classes at Maine October 11

Courses open without tuition

Registrations for the approaching War Training courses which will be conducted by the extension division of the University of Illinois at Maine Township high school, Des Plaines, will be accepted at the high school office from 7 to 9 p. m. on September 28, 29, and 30. Classes will begin Monday evening, October 11.

This is the first time that engineering, science and industrial management courses, on the college level, have been offered in this community and men and women with a high school education or equivalent are urged by H. P. Harshbarger, local co-ordinator, to avail themselves of this unusual opportunity for free training, if they are at present actively engaged in war industry or not.

Some of the advanced science and engineering subjects, however, will require a certain amount of practical experience in addition to a high school education.

The subjects which will be offered according to C. D. McMurry, special representative of the University of Illinois extension division, who is setting up similar War Training programs at other large suburban high schools in the Chicago area are: Radio Technology, Engineering Chemistry, Industrial Accounting, Industrial Cost Accounting, Engineering Drafting, Industrial Supervision for Prospective Foremen, Personnel and Industrial Relations, Time and Motion Study, Elementary Tool Design, Engineering Math, Metallurgy of Iron and Steel, Engineering Mechanics, Hydraulics, and Electrical Engineering.

Women invited

It is not the purpose of this training program, backed by federal appropriations amounting to $25,000,000 for the present school year, to turn out degree engineers in ten to sixteen weeks, but to assist in the training of persons in technical and semi-technical positions which have been and will be created as a result of the war effort. The courses will concentrate on immediate practical application to war jobs.

The need for adequate technical man-power is acute as indicated by the fact that the major war industry establishment attempted

25 women sponsor war loan sale advertisement

For the first time in the history of Paddock Publications, women are exclusively sponsoring a paid advertisement in the Herald. Twenty-five Arlington Heights women have made possible the publication of the page announcement in the interest of the Third War Bond sale that appears on page eight of this issue.

Those interviewed appeared to be glad to give their approval of the advertising program that the treasury department has furnished weekly newspapers with the request that local sponsors be secured. The names of the persons contacted were taken from the membership list of a local civic organization. Those missed will perhaps participate next time.

The publishers had no desire to profit by "overselling" of the sponsorship and received only the regular page price for the advertisement.

Service stations ask help of gas customers

With a lot of motorists filling up their tanks Tuesday, the last day for use of the No. 7 A coupons gas station attendants could not give their usual quick service because so many patrons had failed to place their license number on the face of their coupons.

The OPA has ruled that all gas coupon holders must place their license numbers on all of their coupons as soon as they receive them from the ration board. Gas stations are not supposed to accept coupons that do not have them properly entered.

The local gas stations do not make the rules; they have to follow them and a little cooperation on the part of motorists will save the station owners a lot of inconvenience and also time of the car owners when waiting to be serviced.

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM COUNTY JAIL

Escape of a prisoner from the "dilapidated county jail" last week brought to light an interesting method of escape from the Lake county jail.

The suspected robber had bored through the ceiling of his cell on the third floor of the jail, through the tin roof, broke into the attic of the sheriff's residence next door. He then pushed through a partition to a clothes closet, into a bed room, and walked down the stairs and out the front door while the sheriff and family were eating dinner. He has not been caught, as yet.

POSITION OPEN IN ARLINGTON HEIGHTS POST OFFICE

Applications will be accepted at the Arlington Heights postoffice to fill an existing vacancy on the "mounted route." Applicant must be physically able to drive the truck and handle the mail which includes delivery of the parcel post. Full details and full information can be secured at the office. Immediate action is desired in order that the present service be not impaired.

Fire prevention week opens Oct. 3

RICHARD JAHN

The summer has gone, autumn, then winter; and with the possibility of coal rationing we may be forced to resort to burning corncobs, rubbish, anything to keep warm which makes it more important now than ever to prevent fires.

During Fire Prevention Week let each of us set aside one day to inspect the premises from the attic to the basement, clean out the rubbish centers, examine the chimney at the roof, floors and ceilings for cracks; throw out the old paint and oil cans, fix the smokepipe and heating plant, the wiring on plug-in electric appliances, always remembering that while we may have many things to do treacherous old man FIRE is still with us.

The majority of the fires in homes can be traced to eight major causes listed below in approximate order of their importance. Correct them.

1. Rubbish.
2. Defective chimney.
3. Combustible roofs.
4. Defective heating apparatus.
5. Matches and careless smoking
6. Gasoline, kerosene, etc.
7. Electrical defects.
8. Hot ashes.

Three more polio cases in Barrington

Three more polio cases developed in Barrington this week.

Two of the children live across the street of one of those reported last week. They are Eleanor, 6, and William Terry, 2, McCarthy. They were taken to Evanston. The third case is Pauline Speck, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Speck, a sophomore, who was taken to the Michael Reese hospital Tuesday.

Maureen Mackay, 12, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Robert Mackay, of Biltmore, was taken ill last week and is in Michael Reese hospital. A total of six Barrington people have become ill of the disease.

Mrs. Ethel Dunne, 48, Wauconda died of polio Sunday at a Waukegan hospital.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED TO ARLINGTON RECREATION

An overheated motor caused a lot of smoke early Monday afternoon at Arlington Recreation. Damage was confined to the motor. Fire department answered the call.

Max Warson was injured when running for train

Max Warson is getting around on crutches since Sept. 12, when he fell over a wire at the R. R. park when running for a train. Max caught the train and it was two hours later when the pain in his knee apprised him of the seriousness of the injury received.

The wire was placed there to discourage the public from using an extra path through the park. Many people still use the impromptu path avoiding the wire. The path and wire were all new to Warson.

It is housecleaning time at fieldhouse

Arlington Heights field house is closed this week to all functions. It is housecleaning time. All the floors are being sanded and refinished. The south clubroom is being redecorated throughout. With the use of varnish and elbow grease the interior of the building will be spic and span for the winter season.

The field house is being used more and more each year and will be a busy place many afternoons and evenings this fall and winter.

Merchants make football program possible here

Arlington Heights merchants have cooperated to sponsor the high school football program. Without that cooperation such a program, to be issued at every home game, would not have been possible.

Ken Barnhill, head coach, wishes to take this method of conveying his thanks to the various businessmen advertising in the program. These programs will be presented to everyone attending the first home game this Friday, with Libertyville the opponent.

Barrington OK's increase tax for park board

Voters of Barrington Park district approved last Saturday additional taxes for the district. The total increase is 1½ mills. One-half mill will be for maintenance expenses and a mill will be for recreation purposes. The district has had difficulty in operating the swimming pool, which was only saved the last two years by popular subscriptions.

Rubbish pick-up

The fall pickup of rubbish in Arlington Heights will take place Oct. 4 to 9. No second call can be made; as meter reading starts Oct. 11. Those residing south of the track should have rubbish on their curbs by Monday, Oct. 4. Collection will be Oct. 4, 5 and 6; northside Oct. 7, 8 and 9.

$25 bond to be given away at store opening

To the holder of the lucky ticket will be given a free $25 war bond, promises Christen's food shop. The tickets will be given to customers on the day the store opens, Saturday, Sept. 25, and the winner will be announced that evening.

However, this is not the only lure of the new Christen store moved from the Highway to 3 W. Campbell. The new store has all the space which was found lacking in the older place, and will be able to accommodate the expanding grocery-delicatessen business operated by the Christens.

A goodly stock of supplies has been laid in by Mr. Christen. A half page announcement in this week's Herald tells of delicious cheeses, fruits and vegetables, dairy products, bakery goods, assorted cold meats, and ice creams. Both old and new patrons will be welcomed at the opening. There are no strings tied to the war bond to be given away.

Blame the demons for lack of heat at village hall

If visitors at the municipal building do not get as warm a greeting there this week as is customarily accorded all who enter, blame the demons who John Firnbach says have had a finger in the pie of the heating plant. "They arrived last spring and are still with us," says John.

They, the demons, supervised the dismantling of the boiler last spring because the boiler inspector was scheduled to make his yearly visit.

The boiler cooled, the demons brought a cold snap, and chilled the children's clinic upstairs which was also due for inspection. So Bill Luehring saw to it that the grates were put back into the boiler and the fires were started again.

At this point the demons brought the insurance inspector. He could not climb inside the boiler when the fires were going. He could not inspect until after his three month vacation.

He would return. So again Custodian John Firnbach pulled out the 100 lb. grates to cool the boiler. Two weeks ago, Wm. P. Congdon, of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company, arrived.

He crawled into the cooled boiler, he saw to it that welders worked on the boiler's seams and that they rolled the flues. He ordered a new fire-arch.

The demons saw to it that fire-arches are made of pli-brico which comes from Chicago, but only after much patience. It has not come. It is hard to be patient in the cold and those in the Municipal building are wearing their red flannels.

Legion delegates leave for Omaha

Carrying the mandates of the 9th district of the American Legion and the Department of Illinois to Omaha for the National Wartime conference, the following elected delegates entrained this week.

Past 9th District Commander Wm. Kroll of Melin-Romer Post, 9th District Commander Paul Carroll of Merle Guild Post, Past 9th District Adjutant, Irwin Harland of Gen. George Bell Jr. Post, Harry Jansen of Conley Post, F. R. Wetterman of Des Plaines Post.

Foremost for National Conference action will be the formulating of expanded plans for World War 2 Veterans relief and rehabilitation, and insistance upon proper re-employment facilities.

Commander Carroll, Arlington Heights, of the 9th District said, "We're not only out for a square deal for the returning veteran, but we must make sure he gets the preferred help and assistance from every government agency to which he is justly entitled. During times of war it's easy to do a lot of flag waving and when peace comes it is too easy to forget an obligation to our country's heroes. This National Conference will take the first step in seeing that proper legislation is started to protect our Veterans now. When they all come home the American Legion wants every needed legislation passed by Congress and functioning.

Lutherans to hold rally day Sunday

Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock St. Peter's Lutheran church will be crowded to capacity by the pupils of the Sunday school, their parents and friends. This is the annual Rally Day Sunday, on which the entire school joins in worship with the congregation.

All features of the Rally will stress a devotional attitude, using the regular morning order of devotion. The lower classes will offer songs and recitation, while the upper groups a catechization on the basic Bible doctrines "The Christian Way to God," prepared especially for the occasion.

Both Sunday schools will participate in the worship program. All pupils will assemble in their class rooms at the regular time for final rehearsal. Then they will proceed in a body to the church building, entering with a processional hymn.

The Bundles for America will hold a bake sale at the Public Service of Northern Illinois, Oct. 2, 9:30 a. m. and all day. Any contributions will be gladly accepted.

Parish celebrates 25th anniversary of Rev. Stier

Rev. Geoge J. Stier had many surprises two days before the silver jubilee date of his ordination, Sept. 21, 1918. His parishioners had a celebration planned for him Sunday, Sept. 19.

Sunday began with solemn high mass at 9 a. m. Father Stier's brother, Rev. Aloysius Stier came in from Skokie to serve as deacon, and Rev. Andrew Stutzke from Des Plaines served as sub-deacon.

When Father Stier walked into the church he found the sanctuary had been beautifully decorated with gladiolas and silver by the convent nuns. The singing of the boys vested choir could have been that of the famed Chicago Paulist choir, acording to Father Stier.

Evening party

In the evening the parishioners staged their own celebration in the hall below the rectory. Twenty-five little girls, each representing a year of Father Stier's active priesthood, led him down the stairs as everyone shouted "surprise."

Barbara Lyon presented him with a bouquet of red roses, after which he was given a purse from the parish as a whole. Father Stier had known nothing of these plans, and was completely overwhelmed.

Mel Rateike's orchestra played at the dance which folowed. Sandwiches and beverages were served later. These plans had been made by the Holy Name Society and the Women's guild.

Achievements

Father Stier has been in Arlington Heights for eight years as pastor. His greatest achievement has been clearing the church of $42,000 debt it had when he came. Now he plans to start a fund towards a convent for the Sisters who are now living in the school building.

Also since his coming, the church has been redecorated within and without, and the front of the rectory has been enlarged and rebuilt. Says Father Stier, "It pays to show a good front."

The parochial elementary school has reached a peak enrollment with 221 pupils this year. The school itself was made larger by workers of the congregation at a cost of $1,600. Father Stier points to this building with pride, stating that building contractors value the work at $4,000.

Mission parish

For one year, Father Stier was also in charge of a mission parish in Palatine. Under his guidance, a new church building was built there, and a regular pastor was sent to take charge of it.

Father Stier's congregation now numbers about 350 families, he has eight nuns to assist him, and an assistant priest comes from Techny, Ill., on week-ends to help serve the four masses.

"I like Arlington Heights," he says, "and hope to be here long enough to see both a new convent and church built. The people have become very kind."

When Vitamins Are Needed

by C. W. LUSSMAN
Sieburg's Pharmacy

Quality in any product merits the most thoughtful consideration. You are meticulous in your shopping for clothing, for food, household accessories, you know that your car must have the best care.

Vitamins are important. If you are going to buy them at all, get the best.

The doctor knows that when these are required, they are urgently needed, and that first rate quality is only good economy.

You can depend upon the Vitamins put out by the standard pharmaceutical firms who would never jeopardize their reputation by shading in any degree the purity and potency of their product.

A trustworthy druggist knows the best and prefers to sell them.

Konrad Leinberger

Rev. Konrad Leinberger was born March 5, 1866, at Frankenlust, Michigan, where he was baptized and confirmed; after confirmation he attended the Lutheran Teachers College in Addison. He later taught school for 25 years, at which time he went into the ministry. He served three congregations during his ministry, namely at Plevna, Kansas; Vassar, Kansas, and Union Grove, Wisconsin. He retired in 1938.

On May 28, 1891, he was united in marriage to Miss Johanna Lips at Chicago. This union was blessed with nine children of which three passed away in infancy and one passed away at the age of 17.

To cooperate with the Government's nation-wide campaign to save manpower, transportation, fuel and critical materials... you are asked by the War Production Board to

CONSERVE GAS

... as a part of a voluntary program instituted by the War Production Board, the Office of Defense Transportation, the Petroleum Administration for War, the Solid Fuel Administration for War, the Office of War Utilities, and other governmental agencies.

THE War Production Board, through the Office of War Utilities, has requested the utility industry and the public to assist in a nation-wide effort to conserve critical resources, among them gas and electricity.

The specific measures for the conservation of gas, as recommended by the Office of War Utilities, are shown at the right.

A program for the conservation of electricity was announced last week.

We are asking all of our customers to cooperate with us in this program, and we will be pleased to assist them wherever possible to meet its objectives.

This Company is glad to do its part in this nation-wide plan of the War Production Board for the conservation of critical resources.

Gas has gone to war— don't waste it!

CONSERVATION MEASURES REQUESTED BY THE OFFICE OF WAR UTILITIES

In the Home

Conservation during heating season

Reducing your home temperature to 65° will save substantial amounts of gas. You should also set the temperature down to 55° at night and when you are away from home.

If you have a gas space heater with no thermostatic control, use it only when heat is actually needed in the room where it is located.

Reduce your use of gas for heating by thorough insulation, weather-stripping and installing storm windows. Don't heat unused rooms or your garage.

Your gas range should not be used for heating the room.

Year 'Round Conservation

Save gas in cooking by preparing whole meals in the gas oven or one-dish meals on a single top burner. Do not light the top burners until the cooking utensils are in place.

Use hot water from your gas water heater carefully. Avoid a continuous stream of hot water for washing hands, dishes or shaving. Leaky faucets waste more hot water than you think. They should be repaired.

Careful use of your gas refrigerator will save gas. Don't leave the door open. Cool cooked foods before placing them in the refrigerator.

In Commercial and Industrial Establishments

Commercial and industrial users of gas equipment should watch for opportunities to avoid waste of gas in their gas cooking and water heating equipment as well as other places where gas is used. Gas cooking equipment should be turned off when no longer needed. Wasteful use of hot water should be avoided.

When gas burners do not function efficiently, see that they are properly adjusted.

Gas can be saved where premises are gas heated, if temperature is reduced to 65° when in use and 55° when not in use.

The specific measures for the conservation of gas, as recommended by the Office of War Utilities, are shown at the right.

A program for the conservation of electricity was announced last week.

We are asking all of our customers to cooperate with us in this program, and we will be pleased to assist them wherever possible to meet its objectives.

This Company is glad to do its part in this nation-wide plan of the War Production Board for the conservation of critical resources.

Gas has gone to war— don't waste it!

CONSERVATION MEASURES REQUESTED BY THE OFFICE OF WAR UTILITIES

In the Home

Conservation during heating season

Reducing your home temperature to 65° will save substantial amounts of gas. You should also set the temperature down to 55° at night and when you are away from home.

If you have a gas space heater with no thermostatic control, use it only when heat is actually needed in the room where it is located.

Reduce your use of gas for heating by thorough insulation, weather-stripping and installing storm windows. Don't heat unused rooms or your garage.

Your gas range should not be used for heating the room.

Year 'Round Conservation

Save gas in cooking by preparing whole meals in the gas oven or one-dish meals on a single top burner. Do not light the top burners until the cooking utensils are in place.

Use hot water from your gas water heater carefully. Avoid a continuous stream of hot water for washing hands, dishes or shaving. Leaky faucets waste more hot water than you think. They should be repaired.

Careful use of your gas refrigerator will save gas. Don't leave the door open. Cool cooked foods before placing them in the refrigerator.

In Commercial and Industrial Establishments

Commercial and industrial users of gas equipment should watch for opportunities to avoid waste of gas in their gas cooking and water heating equipment as well as other places where gas is used. Gas cooking equipment should be turned off when no longer needed. Wasteful use of hot water should be avoided.

When gas burners do not function efficiently, see that they are properly adjusted.

Gas can be saved where premises are gas heated, if temperature is reduced to 65° when in use and 55° when not in use.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sieburg entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Rabe, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Emilie Klipp of Elmhurst on Sunday. Mrs. Klipp is great grandmother of Jackie Sieburg, who celebrated his 7th birthday.

Mr. Stork works under war draft

The tempo of stepped up production has invaded the domain of that wise old bird, the stork, according to Dr. Edward L. Larson. During the past week the doctor says the babies not only have come in pairs, but with a mouthful of teeth. Dr. Larson delivered a set of twins, two little girls, to Mrs. Russell of Glenview, born at St. Francis hospital last week.

On Sept. 15, he attended the birth of a Mexican child, Gumecindo Venavides, Jr. This little baby was born with a protruding upper lip and jaw, and upon examing the little mouth, the doctor found a full set of upper teeth, with a thin covering of gum, but each tooth well outlined and perfectly formed. The lower jaw showed two little white teeth about an eighth inch above the gum margin of the jaw. This is the first case of its kind which Dr. Larson has had in his many years of practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sieburg entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Rabe, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Emilie Klipp of Elmhurst on Sunday. Mrs. Klipp is great grandmother of Jackie Sieburg, who celebrated his 7th birthday.

Mr. Stork works under war draft

The tempo of stepped up production has invaded the domain of that wise old bird, the stork, according to Dr. Edward L. Larson. During the past week the doctor says the babies not only have come in pairs, but with a mouthful of teeth. Dr. Larson delivered a set of twins, two little girls, to Mrs. Russell of Glenview, born at St. Francis hospital last week.

On Sept. 15, he attended the birth of a Mexican child, Gumecindo Venavides, Jr. This little baby was born with a protruding upper lip and jaw, and upon examing the little mouth, the doctor found a full set of upper teeth, with a thin covering of gum, but each tooth well outlined and perfectly formed. The lower jaw showed two little white teeth about an eighth inch above the gum margin of the jaw. This is the first case of its kind which Dr. Larson has had in his many years of practice.

Local PTA opens with 'responsibility to youth'

Dr. Paul Misner, superintendent of schools of Glencoe, spoke before the members of the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher association at their opening meeting of the year Tuesday evening.

His talk on "Community Re-

His talk on "Community Responsibility for Children" introduced the theme for the year, "Children Challenge the Community."

Dr. Misner stressed the fact that the problem of education for citizenship is not primarily a school problem, but one of the community, as well and urged that all civic and social organizations in a community, must take an active part in the molding of the lives of its youth, if a better pattern of community, national and international cooperation is to be achieved in the future.

He stressed the importance of teaching children the value of work, and the importance of getting away from the thought that the world owes them a living, that instead that they are only entitled to that for which they work. He praised the organization of civilian defense, in which people from all walks of life have met with a common purpose, to protect their own communities and country, and called it a remarkable tribute to the spirit of America, one that should not be lost when the war is over.

He closed by saying that democracy in its simplified elements is achievement in community living, and if we can carry over into peace time something of working together, the next fifty years will bring a forward march up to a really glorious democracy.

Mrs. Jas. B. Carse, program chairman in presenting an outline of the program for the year, stated that one of the chief objectives is to create the feeling that every child has the right to be dealt with as society's charge, not as society's outcast. She stated that the committee hopes that through the evaluation of the activities and demands of children, the kind of a community that Arlington Heights wants for its children, may be developed. Other fields chosen for topics of discussion which may influence the growth of children in the community, are: Recreation and leisure time activities, security and a rational philosophy, normal home and family relationships, schools of the highest standard and cultural training.

Miss Smith, music teacher in the schools, directed group singing at the opening of the meeting, and at the business meeting, the budget for the year was presented and accepted.

Local PTA opens with 'responsibility to youth'

Dr. Paul Misner, superintendent of schools of Glencoe, spoke before the members of the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher association at their opening meeting of the year Tuesday evening.

His talk on "Community Re- His talk on "Community Responsibility for Children" introduced the theme for the year, "Children Challenge the Community."

Dr. Misner stressed the fact that the problem of education for citizenship is not primarily a school problem, but one of the community, as well and urged that all civic and social organizations in a community, must take an active part in the molding of the lives of its youth, if a better pattern of community, national and international cooperation is to be achieved in the future.

He stressed the importance of teaching children the value of work, and the importance of getting away from the thought that the world owes them a living, that instead that they are only entitled to that for which they work. He praised the organization of civilian defense, in which people from all walks of life have met with a common purpose, to protect their own communities and country, and called it a remarkable tribute to the spirit of America, one that should not be lost when the war is over.

He closed by saying that democracy in its simplified elements is achievement in community living, and if we can carry over into peace time something of working together, the next fifty years will bring a forward march up to a really glorious democracy.

Mrs. Jas. B. Carse, program chairman in presenting an outline of the program for the year, stated that one of the chief objectives is to create the feeling that every child has the right to be dealt with as society's charge, not as society's outcast. She stated that the committee hopes that through the evaluation of the activities and demands of children, the kind of a community that Arlington Heights wants for its children, may be developed. Other fields chosen for topics of discussion which may influence the growth of children in the community, are: Recreation and leisure time activities, security and a rational philosophy, normal home and family relationships, schools of the highest standard and cultural training.

Miss Smith, music teacher in the schools, directed group singing at the opening of the meeting, and at the business meeting, the budget for the year was presented and accepted.

The old shirts are remade into surgical gowns for hospital use, and the ones contributed here will be sent to Hines hospital. The shirts serve a very worthy purpose, and it is urged that old clothing be looked through for possible material for this purpose. When the first consignment of two thousand was received there, an immediate call for three thousand more garments was received and these units rose to the need and furnished the additional number.

Any one interested in working for the local unit, is welcome to attend their meetings on Wednesday morning in the field house.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jarvis to leave Arlington soon

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jarvis are moving from their home in Jarvis Woods, and will locate soon in Rogers Park.

The Jarvis's have been residents of the village for more than seventeen years, and spent many summers here prior to that time. They are still planning to spend their summers here, and have remodeled and modernized their small summer home on Hawthorne st. for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis have both taken an active part in the civic and social affairs of the village, and will be greatly missed by their many friends and co-workers here.

Mr. Jarvis served for a number of years on the grade school board and served as its president for some time. He also was an active member of the library board for a number of years, and has always taken an interested part in all civic affairs.

Mrs. Jarvis has served actively in the Parent-Teacher association since its organization here, and served for two years as president of the Northwest Council of Parents and Teachers.. She did much to promote the work of the Woman's club and served as its president for two years.

For the past few years, she has devoted much of her spare time to the work of the Campfire Girls and the Girl Scouts and it is greatly due to her efforts that Arlington Heights has such a fine group of scouts. The girls who have had the privilege of her leadership, will always feel the inspiration which they received under her direction, and will long remember the good times they have had in Jarvis Woods.

When Troop three met Monday afternoon at the field house, they honored Mrs. Jarvis with a tea, and presented her with a farewell gift as a token of their appreciation. Mrs. Jarvis presented Mrs. Walton, scout leader with a key to Jarvis woods, of which the girls are to have the continued use. Mrs. Jarvis also expects to continue her scout work here in the summers.

Mrs. Jarvis has also done much work in civilian defense in conjunction with the consumer information, and with the cooperation of other workers conducted classes in sewing and the remodeling of garments, for any one interested in the village. She also assisted with a similar class in connection with the parent-teacher association some time ago.

She is also well known and greatly in demand as a book reviewer and her many talents will be profoundly missed here.

The Jarvis's were guests of honor at a farewell dinner party on Saturday evening, given by a group of their friends and on Wednesday afternoon a tea was given for Mrs. Jarvis at the home of Mrs. H. A. Gregg.

Fall flowers and lighted tapers served as a center piece for the tea table, and Mesdames E. H. Heller, Daniel Crumlisch, J. S. Monroe and L. A. Moodie presided at the silver tea service.

Hostesses at the tea were Mesdames E. H. Heller, L. A. Moodie, Paul Collins, H. A. Gregg, Rexford Volz and Ray Atkinson.

Housewives in Arlington Heights are asked to save old white shirts discarded by their husbands, for the war effort. This project is being sponsored locally by the Bundles for America Unit. The old shirts are remade into surgical gowns for hospital use, and the ones contributed here will be sent to Hines hospital. The shirts serve a very worthy purpose, and it is urged that old clothing be looked through for possible material for this purpose. They may be taken to the field house, or will be called for, if Mrs. Robert Palmer, tel. 520, is notified.

The Christmas stockings for soldiers and sailors have all been given out for stitching, and when the thousand are finished, they will be filled for the boys at Yuletime. Any one wishing to donate fifty cents for the filling of a stocking, may contact any member of the unit, who will be glad to accept donations for this purpose.

Mrs. Robert Palmer, local chairman, and Mrs. Wm. Curtis, Mrs. John Shanklin, and Mrs. Carl Jahn attended the chairmen's meeting at headquarters in Chicago on Friday of last week, when Mrs. Geo. Hartford, the new Midwest area chairman for Bundles for America presided, and told of the plans for the fall work.

Bundles for America of the Midwest area, comprising 150 units, has sent five thousand knitted garments to Alaska. When the first consignment of two thousand was received there, an immediate call for three thousand more garments was received and these units rose to the need and furnished the additional number.

Any one interested in working for the local unit, is welcome to attend their meetings on Wednesday morning in the field house.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jarvis to leave Arlington soon

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jarvis are moving from their home in Jarvis Woods, and will locate soon in Rogers Park.

The Jarvis's have been residents of the village for more than seventeen years, and spent many summers here prior to that time. They are still planning to spend their summers here, and have remodeled and modernized their small summer home on Hawthorne st. for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis have both taken an active part in the civic and social affairs of the village, and will be greatly missed by their many friends and co-workers here.

Mr. Jarvis served for a number of years on the grade school board and served as its president for some time. He also was an active member of the library board for a number of years, and has always taken an interested part in all civic affairs.

Mrs. Jarvis has served actively in the Parent-Teacher association since its organization here, and served for two years as president of the Northwest Council of Parents and Teachers.. She did much to promote the work of the Woman's club and served as its president for two years.

For the past few years, she has devoted much of her spare time to the work of the Campfire Girls and the Girl Scouts and it is greatly due to her efforts that Arlington Heights has such a fine group of scouts. The girls who have had the privilege of her leadership, will always feel the inspiration which they received under her direction, and will long remember the good times they have had in Jarvis Woods.

When Troop three met Monday afternoon at the field house, they honored Mrs. Jarvis with a tea, and presented her with a farewell gift as a token of their appreciation. Mrs. Jarvis presented Mrs. Walton, scout leader with a key to Jarvis woods, of which the girls are to have the continued use. Mrs. Jarvis also expects to continue her scout work here in the summers.

Mrs. Jarvis has also done much work in civilian defense in conjunction with the consumer information, and with the cooperation of other workers conducted classes in sewing and the remodeling of garments, for any one interested in the village. She also assisted with a similar class in connection with the parent-teacher association some time ago.

She is also well known and greatly in demand as a book reviewer and her many talents will be profoundly missed here.

The Jarvis's were guests of honor at a farewell dinner party on Saturday evening, given by a group of their friends and on Wednesday afternoon a tea was given for Mrs. Jarvis at the home of Mrs. H. A. Gregg.

Fall flowers and lighted tapers served as a center piece for the tea table, and Mesdames E. H. Heller, Daniel Crumlisch, J. S. Monroe and L. A. Moodie presided at the silver tea service.

Hostesses at the tea were Mesdames E. H. Heller, L. A. Moodie, Paul Collins, H. A. Gregg, Rexford Volz and Ray Atkinson.

there IS a serious waste paper shortage!

and you can make it your patriotic duty to help in this present emergency by saving waste paper right now.

Only one-third of all the waste paper in this country is collected and reclaimed. It is up to every American to help salvage more of it!

BECAUSE . . . Waste paper is salvaged and made into paper boxes, cartons and shipping cases needed to send endless supplies to our Armed Forces, and for essential civilian needs.

Life-saving blood plasma is carried overseas in paper containers. Emergency Food Rations move through steaming jungle, desert heat and frigid Arctic cold —in paper containers.

Vital Red Cross supplies—medicines, serums, bandages—are hurried to the four corners of the earth in paper containers.

Food for American prisoners of war is delivered in paper containers.

Waste paper is made into actual implements of war, such as bomb bands, practice bombs, wing tips, airplane signals, parachute flares, ammunition chests, shell protectors, shell containers.

Here on the Home Front, too, countless essential civilian and wartime items are moving night and day via train, truck and airplane in paper containers and cartons. Food . . . clothing . . . airplane parts . . . tools for busy war plants . . . are shipped in cases, boxes and containers made from the reclaimed waste paper which you can help salvage.

YOU SHOULD SAVE

Newspapers, magazines
Cardboard boxes, cartons and shipping cases
Paper bags, wrapping paper
Letters, envelopes and other advertising matter
Old record files
Contents of every wastebasket

Any kind of waste paper . . . even such items as discarded cigarette packages and used match books are reclaimable.

IT IS YOUR PATRIOTIC DUTY TO HELP

the enemy's just over the hill!

MAYBE I'm your boy—or the boy next door. You know, Mary's sweetheart. Joan's husband, Timmy's daddy. Your son, Father! Your boy, Mother!

Anyway, I've got something to say to you. I've got to make you understand.

This is it. This is zero. This is INVASION!

I'm here, with a million other boys just like me. We're your INVASION forces. And we're going to stay. It wasn't easy getting here, and it is going to be a lot harder before we're through.

WE'RE GIVING ALL WE'VE GOT

I said we were going to stay. I promise that, even if it means the thing—well, the thing we don't like to talk about. Because we're giving all we've got: Our minds, our strength, our blood.

But you see, this isn't going to be enough. Not unless those planes we need snarl down out of the sky on the enemy just over there. Unless those tanks get here. Unless the supply ships get through. Unless there are enough bullets for this rifle.

YOU'RE ON THE
INVASION FRONT NOW!

It's that extra $100 War Bond, all of them together, making up the $15 billion worth they're asking you to buy in September, that will prove that you are on the INVASION front with him.

Your part is at least one extra $100 Bond during the Drive—at least $100. Of course, that's in addition to your regular bond buying. A $100 Bond is the rock bottom figure. Some of you will have to invest thousands to put this Drive across. Take it out of your pay check—or out of that nest egg you were saving for a rainy day.

All you can spare is too little, all you've got is just going to be enough.

Look at it this way: You won't be giving anything. You will be investing in VICTORY—and your future.

Things like safety for your family and money after the war to buy a new home, or to educate your children.

You're buying a stake in VICTORY—and that means America, yours and mine!

I guess that's all I've got time to tell you now. The enemy is waiting, just over the hill. Don't keep us waiting for you!

I'M HERE...

the enemy's just over the hill!

MAYBE I'm your boy—or the boy next door. You know, Mary's sweetheart. Joan's husband, Timmy's daddy. Your son, Father! Your boy, Mother!

Anyway, I've got something to say to you. I've got to make you understand.

This is it. This is zero. This is INVASION!

I'm here, with a million other boys just like me. We're your INVASION forces. And we're going to stay. It wasn't easy getting here, and it is going to be a lot harder before we're through.

WE'RE GIVING ALL WE'VE GOT

I said we were going to stay. I promise that, even if it means the thing—well, the thing we don't like to talk about. Because we're giving all we've got: Our minds, our strength, our blood.

But you see, this isn't going to be enough. Not unless those planes we need snarl down out of the sky on the enemy just over there. Unless those tanks get here. Unless the supply ships get through. Unless there are enough bullets for this rifle.

YOU'RE ON THE INVASION FRONT NOW!

Sicily

From Sicily this week comes word from William Buesing of Mt. Prospect.

"Well, today makes the end of another month. The time sure does pass by quickly. Won't be long and I will have one year of service overseas.

"How are all the Jims back in the States getting along. Are they getting their furloughs pretty regularly?

"So far I haven't caught on much to this Italian lingo. It is a tongue twister for me. About the next best thing you can do is use the hand language; that is wave your hand in a circle and make them understand you that way.

"With the Sicilian campaign done with, we now get some relaxation and recreation although it's not a vacation, there is always something to do.

"That Herald has not arrived as yet. They must be short of paper out there.

"The weather out here at this time of year is rather hot during the day and some times part of early night. I am writing this letter in a lemon grove. Some of the lemons are ready to pick. Haven't tried to make lemonade as yet as I'm a bit short of ice and sugar. Wish they were orange trees or peaches instead, also the grapes are ripe and most of these tomatoes here are the size of one inch in diameter.

"So far I haven't run across anybody that I had known. One in my Bn says he has a brother living in that big town of Wheeling.

"Well, I'm getting along all right and feel fine. I have seen enough of these mountains and rough country. Give me level ground to stand on any day."

His address is Pvt. Wm. J. Buesing 36396381 APO 758 c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

Adding his name to the subscription lists of the Arlington Heights Herald this week is Paul Stadelman of Arlington. Paul entered the service November 4, 1942, first reporting to Camp Wolters, Texas. Mikes, Route 1, Roselle, was one of 141 men to be graduated recently from the Naval Training school for electricians located on the Purdue University campus, Lafayette, Ind. The Bluejacket's high scholastic record was rewarded with a promotion in rating to electrician's mate third class.

Selection to the specialty school was made on the results of his recruit training aptitude test scores which indicated his electrical ability. The completed course included a practical phase of using electrical tools, performing soldering, brazing, electrical wiring and diagraming and repairing telephone circuits. A theoretical phase included principles of electricity and the radio elements of electricity.

The newly graduated Bluejacket is now awaiting active duty orders to a fighting ship of the fleet or to some shore establishment.

Aleutians

From the Aleutians this week comes word of Frank Mertes of Arlington Heights.

"Received the Herald every week for the past month. It's sure swell to read about all the guys, what they're doing and etc. Keep it coming."

"Well, here I am on a forgotten island of the Aleutian chain, somewhere in the blue Pacific where a man's a man and there are no women (censored).

"The weather has been exceptionally good the past few days which is quite a change from the heavy fog that seems to hang over us most of the time. We have no such thing as a tree here, although the high mountains that surround us are covered with wild flowers.

"Don't let the picture scare you. It was taken last winter. I found the beard a good protection against the elements. As a beard just doesn't work with a gas mask most of the fellows shave about once a week now.

"I left Arlington Heights in 1940 to travel to southern Oregon and northern California for the Wm. Wrigley, Jr. Co. Joined the Navy Sept. 28, 1942 in Portland, Ore. Arlington Heights is still my home and I plan to return there after this mess is over with. Will close for now wishing all you guys the best of good health, luck and hunting. Keep the chins up! Alabama

Capt. R. A. Seidel of Mt. Prospect writes this week from Gunter field, Alabama.

"Always wanted to get around to it, but never did thank you for 10 months of continuous service on the Mt. Prospect Herald. I enjoyed your publication before my entry into the service. It is now an unparalleled pleasure. Nice to know the folks back home are thinking of you, makes you feel less alone, and enables me to pick up correspondence with other service men. Result is morale goes way up and the war will be that much shorter. At times it does make you a little homesick—result of that is we want to get this over with that much quicker.

"Concerning the Army Dental Corps, I would like to say that the quality of dental service rendered is the same that each individual dental officer did perform in his own private practice—for our men, the best. We recognize there is no glory in the filling and extraction of infected teeth day in and day out. However, the Army Dental Corps is one of the hardest working branches of the service arms and we take great pride in the eradication of what the U. S. Army considers a serious handicap in the fighting efficiency and endurance of our men — namely, an infected mouth."

Capt Seidel is a graduate of Arlington Heights high school, 1931, and Northwestern University dental school in '36. He carried on a dental practice in Mt. Prospect until he entered the service in October, 1942.

Training included air corps officer training school at Miami Beach, Florida; transfer to Maxwell field, Alabama; then to Greenwood army air field, Mississippi. Present address is R. A. Seidel, Capt., Dental Surgeon, AAFPS (B), Gunter field, Alabama.

"Just received the traveling bank. Thanks a lot. I was surprised and pleased to get it. It'll come in handy for when I was transferred I missed a pay day. Thanks to everyone responsible.

"Just returned from a week-end in San Francisco. I liked it a lot, probebly because it is so much like Chicago."

His address is Sgt. Wilbert Engelking, 47th Gen. Hosp., Hammond Gen. Hosp., Modesto, California.

Ralph Taege of Arlington Heights writes this week from Camp Cooke, California.

"Wonder how good old Heights is getting along. I haven't been there in so long that I've forgotten what it looks like. Every time I move I've gone west, like Horace Greeley. I've seen enough of the west to last a lifetime. Give me any place east of the Mississippi."

Ralph's address is S/Sgt Ralph Taege 36305855, Serv Co 69th Armd Regt., APO 256, Camp Cooke, Cal.

Lt. Robert Kruse of Wheeling is now engaged in desert maneuvers in Southern California, near the Arizona border. Lt. Kruse is with the 344th F.A. Bn. of the 90th Div. His wife is making her home with her parents at Kansas City for the present.

Ernest writes that he wishes to receive the Mt. Prospect Herald. This has been taken care of through the courtesy of the Lions club.

Africa

Writing this week in appreciation of the traveling bank is Austin Buncik of Arlington Heights. When last heard from Austin was in Africa. He is presumed to be at the same address.

"Just received the most welcome letter mailed from the States July 28. The traveling bank was sure a surprise to me. It's a great idea and I can't thank the donors enough. Perhaps when this is over I can thank all of you personally.

"I had quite a few souvenirs for the folks at home, including flags, rifles, pistols, medals, hats, bayonets. I tried to send them home but they wouldn't let me—said they were property of the government. However, I still have a French, German and Italian helmet. I also still have French, German, Italian and English bayonets. If they break loose one of these days I'll send them home.

"If you want to know what we're doing over here, you'll have to watch the government reports and the newspapers. All of us are doing our best."

His address is A. B. Buncik, USCG, USS LCI (L)-94, c/o Fleet Post Office, New York City.

Aleutians

From the Aleutians this week comes word of Frank Mertes of Arlington Heights.

"Received the Herald every week for the past month. It's sure swell to read about all the guys, what they're doing and etc. Keep it coming."

"Well, here I am on a forgotten island of the Aleutian chain, somewhere in the blue Pacific where a man's a man and there are no women (censored).

"The weather has been exceptionally good the past few days which is quite a change from the heavy fog that seems to hang over us most of the time. We have no such thing as a tree here, although the high mountains that surround us are covered with wild flowers.

"Don't let the picture scare you. It was taken last winter. I found the beard a good protection against the elements. As a beard just doesn't work with a gas mask most of the fellows shave about once a week now.

"I left Arlington Heights in 1940 to travel to southern Oregon and northern California for the Wm. Wrigley, Jr. Co. Joined the Navy Sept. 28, 1942 in Portland, Ore. Arlington Heights is still my home and I plan to return there after this mess is over with. Will close for now wishing all you guys the best of good health, luck and hunting. Keep the chins up! Drop me a line, I'll answer."

His address is Frank H. Mertes, CM 3/C PT Base 5 Navy 230, FPO San Francisco, Calif.

He graduated from Arlington Heights Township high school last June.

Alabama

Capt. R. A. Seidel of Mt. Prospect writes this week from Gunter field, Alabama.

"Always wanted to get around to it, but never did thank you for 10 months of continuous service on the Mt. Prospect Herald. I enjoyed your publication before my entry into the service. It is now an unparalleled pleasure. Nice to know the folks back home are thinking of you, makes you feel less alone, and enables me to pick up correspondence with other service men. Result is morale goes way up and the war will be that much shorter. At times it does make you a little homesick—result of that is we want to get this over with that much quicker.

"Concerning the Army Dental Corps, I would like to say that the quality of dental service rendered is the same that each individual dental officer did perform in his own private practice—for our men, the best. We recognize there s no glory in the filling and extraction of infected teeth day in and day out. However, the Army Dental Corps is one of the hardest working branches of the service arms and we take great pride in the eradication of what the U. S. Army considers a serious handicap in the fighting efficiency and endurance of our men — namely, an infected mouth."

Capt Seidel is a graduate of Arlington Heights high school, 1931, and Northwestern University dental school in '36. He carried on a dental practice in Mt. Prospect until he entered the service in October, 1942.

Training included air corps officer training school at Miami Beach, Florida; transfer to Maxwell field, Alabama; then to Greenwood army air field, Mississippi. Present address is R. A. Seidel, Capt., Dental Surgeon, AAFPS (B), Gunter field, Alabama.

California

Wilbert Engelking of Arlington Heights writes from Modesto, California.

"Just received the traveling bank. Thanks a lot. I was surprised and pleased to get it. It'll come in handy for when I was transferred I missed a pay day. Thanks to everyone responsible.

"Just returned from a week-end in San Francisco. I liked it a lot, probebly because it is so much like Chicago."

His address is Sgt. Wilbert Engelking, 47th Gen. Hosp., Hammond Gen. Hosp., Modesto, California.

Ralph Taege of Arlington Heights writes this week from Camp Cooke, California.

"Wonder how good old Heights is getting along. I haven't been there in so long that I've forgotten what it looks like. Every time I move I've gone west, like Horace Greeley. I've seen enough of the west to last a lifetime. Give me any place east of the Mississippi."

Ralph's address is S/Sgt Ralph Taege 36305855, Serv Co 69th Armd Regt., APO 256, Camp Cooke, Cal.

Lt. Robert Kruse of Wheeling is now engaged in desert maneuvers in Southern California, near the Arizona border. Lt. Kruse is with the 344th F.A. Bn. of the 90th Div. His wife is making her home with her parents at Kansas City for the present.

Florida

Mrs. Ernest Mueller of Mt. Prospect reports that she received her first letter from her son, Ernest, who left for service about a week ago and is stationed in the Army Air Corps at Miami Beach, Fla.

He writes that he just got his uniform and gas mask. He says the gas mask is very becoming.

Ernest writes that he wishes to receive the Mt. Prospect Herald. This has been taken care of through the courtesy of the Lions club.

Africa

Writing this week in appreciation of the traveling bank is Austin Buncik of Arlington Heights. When last heard from Austin was in Africa. He is presumed to be at the same address.

"Just received the most welcome letter mailed from the States July 28. The traveling bank was sure a surprise to me. It's a great idea and I can't thank the donors enough. Perhaps when this is over I can thank all of you personally.

"I had quite a few souvenirs for the folks at home, including flags, rifles, pistols, medals, hats, bayonets. I tried to send them home but they wouldn't let me—said they were property of the government. However, I still have a French, German and Italian helmet. I also still have French, German, Italian and English bayonets. If they break loose one of these days I'll send them home.

"If you want to know what we're doing over here, you'll have to watch the government reports and the newspapers. All of us are doing our best."

His address is A. B. Buncik, USCG, USS LCI (L)-94, c/o Fleet Post Office, New York City.

Hawaii

Pfc. William F. Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowland, Arlington Heights, is now in the Hawaiian Islands.

Bill is a graduate of the Arlington Heights public school and has been in service since October, 1942.

He is a member of the 33rd Signal Company and in addition to his other duties, assists in printing the Division's newspaper, which has been getting numerous compliments from the service men, but also from the civilian population.

His letters have contained some very interesting items about the plants and trees of the Islands.

Bill has a host of friends in Arlington Heights and for a while was one of the busiest amateur radio "hams" in the Chicago and suburban areas.

Arlington opens at home Friday against Libertyville

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

Official statements from those high in authority in our federal government issued during the past week have conveyed the idea that expanding the athletic program in high schools and colleges is the patriotic thing to do. McNutt says that competitive sports must be continued and if anything increased as well as school physical fitness programs. An official announcement was not necessary to convince most coaches that this was the situation. They knew the importance of sports in the war effort. However an official statement to that effect should give the schools more backing from boards of education and others who might be in doubt.

Sports travel still a problem

The statement from McNutt's office, however, made no mention of how transportation can be secured. It has been rumored the last few days that the restrictions on the use of school busses for hauling teams might be lifted and if that came about high school athletics could operate as usual. This is a real need and we hope that something will be done about it in the near future. Securing automobiles to transport teams is becoming increasingly difficult.

Pick Libertyville to win title

The Northeast championship this year is in our opinion a toss up between three teams, namely, Libertyville, Niles, and Arlington. On paper they should rate in that order. They are the only schools which really have representative schedules. Our pick to win the Cook County Herald's unofficial championship title is Libertyville. Niles should finish second, and either Crystal Lake or Arlington, third. Lake Forest has seven veterans back, but plays only three games in the loop as does Leyden boasting a like number of lettermen. Both play their games with our win-place-show teams, however, and if either won all three games would have to be credited with the title. It is too bad that the league is not operating. Only Warren and Woodstock appear to be out of the title picture and what a race it would be among the others if all played full league schedules. We would certainly like to see Arlington spring a surprise and finish on top, but we would be going against our better judgment to pick them.

Antioch off to bad start

No report came from Antioch last Friday following their game with McHenry and the Chicago papers did not get the tragic news that the Sequoits had been swamped 45-0. Coach Al Kroll told me the next night at the Grant-St. Marys game that he felt too low after the game to call me the score. It was a tough start after taking over Coach C. A. Wolfinbargar's job. However, Kroll has only Joe Nader, a 140 pound center, from the first team of 1942 and a very poor turnout for the grid sport. Looks like the king of Northwest football the past couple of years is due for a near cellar position.

Grant has good team

Grant high at Fox Lake is all dolled up in satin uniforms this year and full of pepper and enthusiasm. They had a fine turnout to their first night game. The Bulldogs are a heavy, hard driving team which may have a lot to say about who finishes on top this year. Their first league game will be at Palatine Saturday, October 2. Last year the Pirates won at Grant 16-7.

Clark has most veterans in league

Gloomy Paul Clark at Barrington is pessimistic as usual but really should not feel too low this year. He has seven lettermen including three of his regular backs from last year. From this standpoint the Bronchos are the best off in the league. Barrington started off last week with an example of the jinx that has followed them for several years. They gain the most yardage in their games but cannot get the most points. Unfortunately the games are not won on first downs. It will be interesting to see how Barrington stacks up against Crystal Lake Friday. It may give some basis for comparison of the Bronchos and Pirates who meet in the biggest game of the season for both at Barrington October 22.

McCoy was all state man in college days

Crystal Lake's football eleven this year has only two seniors in the starting lineup. What a powerhouse the Lakers will have next year. They will win plenty, by the way, this season. Their new assistant coach, Barney McCoy, was an all state halfback selection playing on the Simpson College Iowa Conference champions of 1926. We saw him in action in both football and baseball back in those days and he was a star of stars.

Cards-Pirates scrimmage

Palatine and Arlington got together for another practice session Tuesday at Palatine. Both teams appeared much improved over their performance 10 days ago when they scrimmaged each other at Arlington. Mel Cook, Palatine's best tackle, who transferred from Austin high of Chicago, thinks the Williams twins of Arlington the toughest proposition he has played against.

Vogt to lead Pirates in cross country

Clarence Vogt is expected to be one of the better cross country runners in the area this fall. Aside from him Palatine has few boys certain of placing very high in meets. In fact the schedule is just being planned this week because of such a small turnout. Winn is the only other letterman out but Hapke, minor winner, has shown much improvement. Others on the team are Linneman and Gallimore. Toppel, Howes, and Filloon are other possibilities. There are no seniors out for cross country at Palatine. Meets will be scheduled with Leyden, Niles, and Maine Township.

Disappearance of Meteor

The disappearance of a meteor may be explained by its passing through our atmosphere and emerging again into space, or it may be that the atmospheric friction has consumed it; that is, it has been worn away to fine particles of dust which may settle without our becoming aware of it.

When Arlington takes the field Friday afternoon in their home opener against Libertyville the Cardinals will be meeting probably the strongest opponent on their schedule. Last year Bergstrom's Wildcats went through an undefeated season to tie with Lake Forest for the official Northeast championship. Both teams had two ties, being deadlocked with each other and with Leyden. Libertyville has a strong nucleus remaining from that unbeaten eleven and on paper rate as league repeaters.

Libertyville is well fortified with seven lettermen, all of whom were in plenty of action last season. Daryl Luce, 185 pound fullback, has won two letters at his position, and Charles Lennartz, the Wildcats' best track sprinter, lettered last year at half back. He weighs 165 pounds. Ericksen, another sprinter weighing 160, is paired with Lennartz at half back. He is a lad with two seasons of reserve team experience.

The Wildcats lost four regular linemen by graduation, but have the regular ends, Paul Schaffer and John Kruckman and Al Kristan returning. These three lads weigh in at around 170 pounds. Schaffer was the outstanding punter of this area last year, averaging over 50 yards in several games. He is an outstanding pass catcher. Don Carleton, a 160 pound center, and Frank Nehmer, a 175 pound tackle, are other veterans who will make the Wildcats a tough aggregation. Other likely starters Friday are Gene Cherenovich, 180 tackle; Don Herr, 195 guard; and Wm. Madole, 160 guard.

Arlington's 26-0 victory over Woodstock stamps the Cards as the dark horse of the league. Certain it is that Coach Barnhill's team has spirit, drive, and determination. At this writing their greatest lack is experience in several positions. It is unfortunate that they have to meet Libertyville so early in the season, but the Wildcats may not be as tough right now as later. Anyway Arlington has a chance to win and the game will go quite a way toward deciding the mythical conference title.

Red Wings finish season with 9 and 10

The Arlington Red Wings closed the 1943 season with a record of nine wins and ten losses. While this year was one of the few that Arlington failed to play .500 ball, they gave an excellent account of themselves considering the type of competition they booked.

Camp Grant, a team of all stars from various major league teams provided two set-backs, but Arlington was not humiliated either time. The home game was played before one of the largest crowds ever to witness a local game, with Arlington losing 3-0.

Manager Edw. Cherwin did a fine job of holding the team together and Schaefer pitched fine ball all season. Peeters, Altenburg and McWharter, three promising regulars, entered the armed services during the season. Sewoski and Witt quit the team in the middle of the season, but Brodnan, Huber, Spielman and Hodges filled the vacancies. Willert, Kirchhoff, Wahl, Laurance, and Winkelman, together with Schaefer, were regulars all season. Others in the lineup were Casey, Stavros, Kohler, Firnbach, Helms, and Crawford.

Arlington played Glenview Naval Training Station four games, winning one and losing two under the lights at Glenview, one in the 11th inning and the other was rained out in the second.

Perhaps the best game of the season was the win over Queen of Angels 2-1 in 10 innings on the home grounds August 29, in which Schaefer set the Angels down with four hits while his teammates collected ten.

"The Red Wings are extremely grateful to the fans for their loyal support," states Eddie Cherwin, the manager.

Season scores include the following: first score named is the Red Wing tally for that game.

Cardinals swamp Woodstock, 26-0

by JOE SMART

Led by a small, fast, hard-charging line, Arlington's backfield sped through Woodstock's heavier line for numerous gains and four touchdowns, last Friday at Woodstock for a 26-0 victory. Kohler scored in each of the first two quarters and Nelson duplicated the feat in the last half. Bokelman converted in the first and third quarters out of the four tries.

The score, however, does not indicate the prowess of the "Streaks" squad. Several times they forced their way down into the Cards territory only to be stopped by the gallant line-men.

Cards score

Bokelman kicked off to the fifty where a lineman returned it to the Cards 48. On four plays they netted 9 yards coming just short of a first down.

Kohler lost two yards on a reverse but McDonald picked up 20 in the opposite direction, giving the Cards a first down on the Streaks 41. Kohler and Nelson took the ball to the 20 in five more plays, but Nelson fumbled on the next play, Woodstock recovering. The Streaks punted to the 45 where Ehard caught in and returned to the 34. On two plays McDonald reached the ten yard line from where Kohler scored on a double reverse. Bokelman converted.

The Cards kicked off and in a series of plays the Streaks toted the ball down to the Cards 45 yard line where they were stopped. The Cards took over on the 46 and the quarter ended with the ball on the Cards 47.

Failing to gain on two plays Kohler kicked to the 33. Woodstock had four plays and then turned the ball over to the Cards on the 40 yard line. The Cards gained 1 yard in three plays and Kohler kicked to the 2 yard line where Williams downed it.

After an incomplete pass the Streaks kicked to the 30 only to have Ehard bring it back to the 22. McDonald gained six on a reverse but a pass by him to Kohler was incomplete. Nelson crashed off tackle twice for six yards and a first down on the 10. McDonald lost five on a reverse but Kohler again broke loose for a touchdown on another double reverse. Bokleman failed to convert.

The Cards kicked off and on the first play Aldrich recovered a fumble. However, two plays later Nelson fumbled and Laffin recovered for Woodstock. After four downs the Cards took over and on the second play Kohler fumbled, Woodstock again recovering on their 48. Two passes netted four yards and then Pugh threw a shovel pass to Hoffman who raced 40 yards to the Cards nine yard line. On the next play Pugh went to the two yard line where the half ended after two unsuccessful tries for a touchdown.

Second half

Woodstock kicked off to the 27 where Nelson picked it up and returned it to the 32. The Cards failed to make their ten yards, and Kohler kicked to Woodstock's 38 yard line. Woodstock tried four plays and kicked back to the Cards 48, Ehard returning to Woodstock's 47. McDonald, Nelson, and Kohler alternated in carrying the ball down to the 6 yard line on two first downs, but they were finally stopped there and Woodstock took over the reins. The Streaks failed on three passes but received the ball on the 16 yard line after a penalty by the Cards. The next pass clicked for 8 yards, but Bob Williams intercepted the following pass after blocking it and ran to the three yard line, where he was finally hauled down. Nelson went over guard to the 1 foot line and scored on the next play through the same position. Bokelman's kick for the extra point was good.

The fourth quarter started off as a punting duel but half way through the quarter the Cards started a march from their own 42 yard line. Again Nelson, Kohler, McDonald and Ehard alternated in carrying the ball down to the 12 yard line. Nelson went over from this point. Bokelman failed to convert. Woodstock tried vainly to score on passes but their attempts were futile and the game soon ended.

The Cards all played a good game and the spirit was exceptionally high.

55 boys out at All-American football trials

A total of fifty-five boys answered the first call for trials in the Junior All-American League being sponsored this fall by the athletic committee of the Dad's Club.

Twenty-five boys reported to Coaches Charlie Page and Harry Robinson in the South Side trials, while Coaches George Schneberger and Grayle Howlett were greeted by thirty boys when they ran the North Side trials at Recreation Park last Monday afternoon.

In both cases, the spirit ran high, and it is planned to have the league in operation by the first week in October. At a meeting of the Dad's club athletic committee attended by Coach Ken Barnhill of the high school, it was decided that a shortage of equipment would make necessary the playing of eight-man touch football in this first year of the Junior All-American League's existence.

Barnhill pointed out that the game has met with enthusiastic response in his physical education classes at the high school, and further said:

"From a coaching standpoint, it offers a fine means of getting across some of the main football fundamentals. It's a wide open game that teaches the boys co-ordination . . . improves their speed . . . makes better broken field runners, pass catchers and passers out of them."

The Mount Prospect trials have still not been set due to inability to enlist a coach for the team. As soon as a man is found, the trials will be held and the team formed.

Libertyville, Barrington Grant win; Antoch loses

Libertyville pried the lid off what appears to be another good season for Coach Art Bergstrom by whipping West Chicago of the Little Seven conference 18-6. The Wildcats scored in the opening period when Paul Schaffer caught a long pass and tallied. West Chicago came back to also score on a pass but Schaffer put Libertyville ahead by running over an interception. Late in the game Norm Ericksen, junior back, ran off tackle 45 yards for the final count. It was a typical opening game with both teams making plenty of mistakes in both execution and judgment.

McHenry 45, Antioch 0.

Antioch, unbeaten in Northwest Conference play the past two years, appears headed for a bad season if Friday's 45-0 shellacking at the hands of McHenry is a fair indication. Coach McCracken's eleven scored seven touchdowns over, around, and through the Antioch team and had three others nullified by penalties. McHenry found Antioch's ends weak and did not have much trouble gaining through the line but their best play against the Sequoits was the forward pass which resulted in three of the scores. Antioch outweighed McHenry but could not cope with the latter's speed

Grant 7, St. Marys 0.

A determined and hard driving Grant eleven threatened repeatedly and finally hit pay dirt in the final quarter to beat under manned St. Marys of Woodstock 7-0 in a night game at Fox Lake on Saturday. Coach Kirwin Stratton of Grant has a heavy, hard driving eleven which has hopes of going places this year. St. Marys used a razzle-dazzle style of play and came near scoring on several occasions but Grant always stopped them whene they got inside the 30 yard line. St. Marys was badly outweighed but compensated for this by speed and passing. Poor pass catching cost St. Marys the ball game. Grant hits a standout team at McHenry Friday night.

Barrington 6, Marengo 6

Coach Clark's Barrington Bronchos outplayed Marengo the whole game having possession of the ball 75 per cent of the time and being near the Marengo goal on seven different occasions, but had to settle for a tie. Staynor scored the Bronch touchdown in the second quarter. Barrington lost the ball on downs on one occasion on the one foot line. The game was played at Barrington Saturday. This Friday the Bronchos face tougher opposition in a night battle at Crystal Lake.

Crystal Lake outplays Palatine under lights, 20-0

Palatine lost the opening football game at Crystal Lake last Friday night 20-0 in a contest in which the Pirates were considerably over matched. The Lakers had speed, superior line play, and a lot of reserve man power. Palatine's lack of experienec played a prominent role in the scoring of all three Crystal Lake touchdowns. However, the Lakers could probably have scored more than 20 points had they elected to keep the varsity eleven in action most of the game.

The Pirates lost, but gained valuable experience for the coming conference season in which they will meet no one in the class of Crystal Lake. This Saturday Palatine's green outfit will get added seasoning in another non-conference tilt, this time at Leyden against their junior varsity. This means all Leyden's big squad except their 11 regulars are eligible to play against the Pirates.

Getting back to last Friday's defeat it is well to state that the Palatine team showed flashes of good football and that the backfield work of Douglas and Moody was really outstanding. The new tackle, Melville Cook, appeared to best advantage of the linemen, Palatine made five first downs to Crystal Lake's seven, but three of them came in the closing minutes of the game when Bob Douglas opened up on passes. Improvement in snaring the accurate tosses of Douglas will add a lot to the Palatine offense. A 30 yard completion to Herr was Palatine's longest gain of the evening.

The Lakers got into scoring position due to some defensive mistakes in the Palatine line and the stage was set on a 23 yard reverse which took the ball to the Pirate 15 yard line in the opening quarter. After a five yard gain Larsen ran around Palatine's left end for 10 yards and a touchdown and Tipps converted. In the second quarter a long punt rolled back to the Palatine 15 yard line and two plays later Moody fumbled and the Lakers recovered on the 22 yard line. On the sixth play Mead of Crystal Lake scored and Tipps again place kicked the extra point.

Again in the third period Crystal Lake got into a good scoring spot thru Palatine mistakes. The Pirates backed up to their own 17 yard line threw a short pass which the Lakers intercepted on the 25 yard line. Two 10 yard end runs followed by a penalty on Palatine's right end put the ball on the two yard line and Uceny scored easily on the next play. Palatine put on a little offensive in the last five minutes of play as Douglas and Moody plunged for some nice gains and Douglas tossed three short completions to Meyer and a 30 yard aerial to Herr.

Pirates host to Leyden Saturday

Coach Joe Botts at Leyden had a good ball team last fall and has a group of seven lettermen to bolster his chances for 1943. The Eagles play only Libertyville, Niles, and Arlington in the conference. Saturday Leyden will play Palatine at Franklin Park after meeting the Proviso JV team the night before. The starters against Proviso will be excused from the Palatine game.

Last year Palatine beat Leyden JV team 25-7, but their opponent will be much stronger this season. The Leyden varsity will include the following veterans: Bacle, 180 tackle; Guetzloff, 175 center and tackle; Jones, 140 back; Jagade, 185 back; McAuliff, 160 guard and tackle; Schroeder, 150 back; and Thomas, 160 back.

Palatine appeared to be much improved in their scrimmage with Arlington Tuesday. The Pirates marched 60 yards to score after Ehardt of the Cards had returned a touchdown the same distance to count a touchdown. Later Arlington scored again on a double reverse with Kohler going 45 yards. The Palatine line performed in much improved fashion. Hansen, 185 pound junior, did a good job Tuesday at filling the gap at right tackle. Cook, 170, plays left tackle and is a 170 pound junior. Bock and Capt. Oltendorf, seniors weighing 235 and 145 respectively are the guards. Herr, 145 pound senior, and Ullock, a soph weighing the same were the ends Tuesday. Goodwin, 155, was at center but shared the spot with Kolze, also a senior weighing 145. In the backfield Coach Stutzman used Douglas, 160 junior, at left half; Moody, 160 junior, at fullback; Smith, 130 soph, at quarterback; and divided time between Meyers, 140 senior, and Anderson, 175 junior, at right half.

THE SPOTLIGHT

Season's greetings . . . or "block that kick!" . . . "hold that line!" . . . "touchdown - touchdown - touchdown!"

Once again THE SPOTLIGHT is turned on — its rays dedicated to searching out the high spots . . . yes, and the low spots, too . . . of athletics as they're played by the individuals and the teams carrying the banner of Arlington Heights Township High School.

This corner will operate on the motto of giving credit where it is due, annd DISCREDIT where it is due — and the whole idea is to make Cardinal teams BETTER teams. By "better" we don't especially mean on the winning side, although that will follow automatically. Rather, by "better" we mean the development of the kind of teams that will reflect credit on A.H.T.H.S., and the boys competing in the colors of A.H.T.H.S.

We want to see Arlington Heights Township high school proud of its teams . . . and its teams proud of Arlington Heights Township high school. From such a mutual admiration society will spring teams that will be dominant in this area.

Let the student body adopt this slogan:

OUR TEAM — MAY IT ALWAYS WIN — BUT WIN OR LOSE — OUR TEAM!

And let the teams play in the full spirit and with the full purpose of that endorsement from their classmates.

CARDS OF THE WEEK—Back in 1930, Knute Rockne had a 145 pound guard playing on a line that carried the University of Notre Dame to the national collegiate football championship. His name was Bert Metzger, and they called him Rockne's "Watch Charm Guard."

Well, Coach Ken Barnhill of Arlington Heights has a "watch charm," too. Not one—but TWO, and they answer to the name of Bill and Bob Williams. Here are a couple of 130-pounders who are dynamite on the loose in a football suit.

As one follower of the Cardinal eleven remarked the other night: "Opposing teams try the middle of the Arlington line once . . . the Williams boys come up and introduce themselves—and then that's all, brother—that's all!"

There was a lot of fancy work by the Cardinal backfield in the 26-0 rout of Woodstock. Pat McDonald and Bob Kohler and Bob Nelson and Hank Ehard were pouring it on the Streaks all afternoon, with McDonald coming through with several dazzling ball-carrying displays.

But up there in the middle of the line, blocking and tackling and leading the way were the Williams boys — Ken, Barnhill's "Watch Charm Guards."

And the Arlington backs would be the first to say — Give 'em the credit as—

THE CARDS OF THE WEEK!

Libertyville beat the Arlington eleven 19-0 last year. In 1941 the Chicago Bears beat the Washington Redskins, 73-0. In 1942 the Washington Redskins beat the Chicago Bears, 14-7.

Get the idea fellows — it's a new year! Let's continue to make it a HAPPY New Year, even if Jan. 1 is three months away.

One swallow doesn't make a summer — and of course, one football game doesn't make a season.

But there were encouraging factors about the Cardinal eleven's 26-0 defeat of Woodstock in the season's opening football game. Not the kind of factors that would tend to give the squad itself a feeling of smugness. But rather, the kind that would make it buckle down all the harder, secure in the knowledge that the material and the coaching leadership are at hand to make this one of the best football seasons Arlington Heights has known in some time.

Rival coaches in a position to know say that they note a new spirit about Arlington Heights teams. And that's the most encouraging sign of all, because spirit of the one-for-all and all-for-one kind is the basis of athletic success. Ask football coaches like Harry Stuhldreher and Frank Leahy, or major league baseball managers like Joe McCarthy and Jimmy Dykes, whether they prefer a group of stars, each intent on bettering his own reputation . . . or a TEAM in which individual effort and identity is forgotten in a striving for united effort and results. They'll pick the TEAM every time and let you have the stars. They'll not only take the players with team spirit, but they'll beat your stars most of the time. Joe McCarthy has fired more than one high-class ball player just because he couldn't forget himself as an individual.

So when rival coaches say there is a new spirit of team unity about Arlington athletes, that is encouraging.

To the boys on the squad, may we stress: BELIEVE IN YOUR TEAMMATES AND YOUR COACHES! In Ken Barnhill, Arlington is fortunate to have a coach who distinguished himself as an outstanding competitor in college athletics. Like other successful coaches he desires team effort over individual heroics. And on that foundation he will build winning teams at Arlington Heights.

The "Parent's Night" sponsored by the athletic committee of the Dad's Club last night at the high school was a first attempt in asking co-operation of fathers and mothers in assuring the success of an athletic season.

Parents of squad members can contribute invaluable aid to the coaching staff in making a success of the current football season. They can, in effect, set up the training rules for the squad by seeing that the boys get plenty of sleep and the right kind of food. And the boys themselves will rally to this "home training table" because they'll appreciate the interest of Dad and Mother in their athletic efforts.

At big universities playing major league football, the training problem is a bit different. There the coaches assemble the squad each night at a training table, and with all the squad members living on the campus, they are able to bring their own form of discipline to conditioning the squad.

But it is different in a high school, where the boys live at home and where the coaching staff has them under the personal direction for only two hours daily. Then the training problem becomes more of a "community" thing, as indeed, the team itself should be.

Parents, too, have a stake in the matter beyond the athletic interest of their own boys. Football injuries are rare to the WELL-EQUIPPED boy and the WELL-CONDITIONED boy. The high school is providing the boys with the equipment. How about supplying them with the training routine needed, parents?

Arlington opens at home Friday against Libertyville

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

Official statements from those high in authority in our federal government issued during the past week have conveyed the idea that expanding the athletic program in high schools and colleges is the patriotic thing to do. McNutt says that competitive sports must be continued and if anything increased as well as school physical fitness programs. An official announcement was not necessary to convince most coaches that this was the situation. They knew the importance of sports in the war effort. However an official statement to that effect should give the schools more backing from boards of education and others who might be in doubt.

Sports travel still a problem

The statement from McNutt's office, however, made no mention of how transportation can be secured. It has been rumored the last few days that the restrictions on the use of school busses for hauling teams might be lifted and if that came about high school athletics could operate as usual. This is a real need and we hope that something will be done about it in the near future. Securing automobiles to transport teams is becoming increasingly difficult.

Pick Libertyville to win title

The Northeast championship this year is in our opinion a toss up between three teams, namely, Libertyville, Niles, and Arlington. On paper they should rate in that order. They are the only schools which really have representative schedules. Our pick to win the Cook County Herald's unofficial championship title is Libertyville. Niles should finish second, and either Crystal Lake or Arlington, third. Lake Forest has seven veterans back, but plays only three games in the loop as does Leyden boasting a like number of lettermen. Both play their games with our win-place-show teams, however, and if either won all three games would have to be credited with the title. It is too bad that the league is not operating. Only Warren and Woodstock appear to be out of the title picture and what a race it would be among the others if all played full league schedules. We would certainly like to see Arlington spring a surprise and finish on top, but we would be going against our better judgment to pick them.

Antioch off to bad start

No report came from Antioch last Friday following their game with McHenry and the Chicago papers did not get the tragic news that the Sequoits had been swamped 45-0. Coach Al Kroll told me the next night at the Grant-St. Marys game that he felt too low after the game to call me the score. It was a tough start after taking over Coach C. A. Wolfinbargar's job. However, Kroll has only Joe Nader, a 140 pound center, from the first team of 1942 and a very poor turnout for the grid sport. Looks like the king of Northwest football the past couple of years is due for a near cellar position.

Grant has good team

Grant high at Fox Lake is all dolled up in satin uniforms this year and full of pepper and enthusiasm. They had a fine turnout to their first night game. The Bulldogs are a heavy, hard driving team which may have a lot to say about who finishes on top this year. Their first league game will be at Palatine Saturday, October 2. Last year the Pirates won at Grant 16-7.

Clark has most veterans in league

Gloomy Paul Clark at Barrington is pessimistic as usual but really should not feel too low this year. He has seven lettermen including three of his regular backs from last year. From this standpoint the Bronchos are the best off in the league. Barrington started off last week with an example of the jinx that has followed them for several years. They gain the most yardage in their games but cannot get the most points. Unfortunately the games are not won on first downs. It will be interesting to see how Barrington stacks up against Crystal Lake Friday. It may give some basis for comparison of the Bronchos and Pirates who meet in the biggest game of the season for both at Barrington October 22.

McCoy was all state man in college days

Crystal Lake's football eleven this year has only two seniors in the starting lineup. What a powerhouse the Lakers will have next year. They will win plenty, by the way, this season. Their new assistant coach, Barney McCoy, was an all state halfback selection playing on the Simpson College Iowa Conference champions of 1926. We saw him in action in both football and baseball back in those days and he was a star of stars.

Cards-Pirates scrimmage

Palatine and Arlington got together for another practice session Tuesday at Palatine. Both teams appeared much improved over their performance 10 days ago when they scrimmaged each other at Arlington. Mel Cook, Palatine's best tackle, who transferred from Austin high of Chicago, thinks the Williams twins of Arlington the toughest proposition he has played against.

Vogt to lead Pirates in cross country

Clarence Vogt is expected to be one of the better cross country runners in the area this fall. Aside from him Palatine has few boys certain of placing very high in meets. In fact the schedule is just being planned this week because of such a small turnout. Winn is the only other letterman out but Hapke, minor winner, has shown much improvement. Others on the team are Linneman and Gallimore. Toppel, Howes, and Filloon are other possibilities. There are no seniors out for cross country at Palatine. Meets will be scheduled with Leyden, Niles, and Maine Township.

Disappearance of Meteor

The disappearance of a meteor may be explained by its passing through our atmosphere and emerging again into space, or it may be that the atmospheric friction has consumed it; that is, it has been worn away to fine particles of dust which may settle without our becoming aware of it.

When Arlington takes the field Friday afternoon in their home opener against Libertyville the Cardinals will be meeting probably the strongest opponent on their schedule. Last year Bergstrom's Wildcats went through an undefeated season to tie with Lake Forest for the official Northeast championship. Both teams had two ties, being deadlocked with each other and with Leyden. Libertyville has a strong nucleus remaining from that unbeaten eleven and on paper rate as league repeaters.

Libertyville is well fortified with seven lettermen, all of whom were in plenty of action last season. Daryl Luce, 185 pound fullback, has won two letters at his position, and Charles Lennartz, the Wildcats' best track sprinter, lettered last year at half back. He weighs 165 pounds. Ericksen, another sprinter weighing 160, is paired with Lennartz at half back. He is a lad with two seasons of reserve team experience.

The Wildcats lost four regular linemen by graduation, but have the regular ends, Paul Schaffer and John Kruckman and Al Kristan returning. These three lads weigh in at around 170 pounds. Schaffer was the outstanding punter of this area last year, averaging over 50 yards in several games. He is an outstanding pass catcher. Don Carleton, a 160 pound center, and Frank Nehmer, a 175 pound tackle, are other veterans who will make the Wildcats a tough aggregation. Other likely starters Friday are Gene Cherenovich, 180 tackle; Don Herr, 195 guard; and Wm. Madole, 160 guard.

Arlington's 26-0 victory over Woodstock stamps the Cards as the dark horse of the league. Certain it is that Coach Barnhill's team has spirit, drive, and determination. At this writing their greatest lack is experience in several positions. It is unfortunate that they have to meet Libertyville so early in the season, but the Wildcats may not be as tough right now as later. Anyway Arlington has a chance to win and the game will go quite a way toward deciding the mythical conference title.

55 boys out at All-American football trials

A total of fifty-five boys answered the first call for trials in the Junior All-American League being sponsored this fall by the athletic committee of the Dad's Club.

Twenty-five boys reported to Coaches Charlie Page and Harry Robinson in the South Side trials, while Coaches George Schneberger and Grayle Howlett were greeted by thirty boys when they ran the North Side trials at Recreation Park last Monday afternoon.

In both cases, the spirit ran high, and it is planned to have the league in operation by the first week in October. At a meeting of the Dad's club athletic committee attended by Coach Ken Barnhill of the high school, it was decided that a shortage of equipment would make necessary the playing of eight-man touch football in this first year of the Junior All-American League's existence.

Barnhill pointed out that the game has met with enthusiastic response in his physical education classes at the high school, and further said:

"From a coaching standpoint, it offers a fine means of getting across some of the main football fundamentals. It's a wide open game that teaches the boys co-ordination . . . improves their speed . . . makes better broken field runners, pass catchers and passers out of them."

The Mount Prospect trials have still not been set due to inability to enlist a coach for the team. As soon as a man is found, the trials will be held and the team formed.

Red Wings finish season with 9 and 10

The Arlington Red Wings closed the 1943 season with a record of nine wins and ten losses. While this year was one of the few that Arlington failed to play .500 ball, they gave an excellent account of themselves considering the type of competition they booked.

Camp Grant, a team of all stars from various major league teams provided two set-backs, but Arlington was not humiliated either time. The home game was played before one of the largest crowds ever to witness a local game, with Arlington losing 3-0.

Manager Edw. Cherwin did a fine job of holding the team together and Schaefer pitched fine ball all season. Peeters, Altenburg and McWharter, three promising regulars, entered the armed services during the season. Sewoski and Witt quit the team in the middle of the season, but Brodnan, Huber, Spielman and Hodges filled the vacancies. Willert, Kirchhoff, Wahl, Laurance, and Winkelman, together with Schaefer, were regulars all season. Others in the lineup were Casey, Stavros, Kohler, Firnbach, Helms, and Crawford.

Arlington played Glenview Naval Training Station four games, winning one and losing two under the lights at Glenview, one in the 11th inning and the other was rained out in the second.

Perhaps the best game of the season was the win over Queen of Angels 2-1 in 10 innings on the home grounds August 29, in which Schaefer set the Angels down with four hits while his teammates collected ten.

"The Red Wings are extremely grateful to the fans for their loyal support," states Eddie Cherwin, the manager.

Season scores include the following: first score named is the Red Wing tally for that game.

Cardinals swamp Woodstock, 26-0

by JOE SMART

Led by a small, fast, hard-charging line, Arlington's backfield sped through Woodstock's heavier line for numerous gains and four touchdowns, last Friday at Woodstock for a 26-0 victory. Kohler scored in each of the first two quarters and Nelson duplicated the feat in the last half. Bokelman converted in the first and third quarters out of the four tries.

The score, however, does not indicate the prowess of the "Streaks" squad. Several times they forced their way down into the Cards territory only to be stopped by the gallant line-men.

Cards score

Bokelman kicked off to the fifty where a lineman returned it to the Cards 48. On four plays they netted 9 yards coming just short of a first down.

Kohler lost two yards on a reverse but McDonald picked up 20 in the opposite direction, giving the Cards a first down on the Streaks 41. Kohler and Nelson took the ball to the 20 in five more plays, but Nelson fumbled on the next play, Woodstock recovering. The Streaks punted to the 45 where Ehard caught in and returned to the 34. On two plays McDonald reached the ten yard line from where Kohler scored on a double reverse. Bokelman converted.

The Cards kicked off and in a series of plays the Streaks toted the ball down to the Cards 45 yard line where they were stopped. The Cards took over on the 46 and the quarter ended with the ball on the Cards 47.

Failing to gain on two plays Kohler kicked to the 33. Woodstock had four plays and then turned the ball over to the Cards on the 40 yard line. The Cards gained 1 yard in three plays and Kohler kicked to the 2 yard line where Williams downed it.

After an incomplete pass the Streaks kicked to the 30 only to have Ehard bring it back to the 22. McDonald gained six on a reverse but a pass by him to Kohler was incomplete. Nelson crashed off tackle twice for six yards and a first down on the 10. McDonald lost five on a reverse but Kohler again broke loose for a touchdown on another double reverse. Bokleman failed to convert.

The Cards kicked off and on the first play Aldrich recovered a fumble. However, two plays later Nelson fumbled and Laffin recovered for Woodstock. After four downs the Cards took over and on the second play Kohler fumbled, Woodstock again recovering on their 48. Two passes netted four yards and then Pugh threw a shovel pass to Hoffman who raced 40 yards to the Cards nine yard line. On the next play Pugh went to the two yard line where the half ended after two unsuccessful tries for a touchdown.

Second half

Woodstock kicked off to the 27 where Nelson picked it up and returned it to the 32. The Cards failed to make their ten yards, and Kohler kicked to Woodstock's 38 yard line. Woodstock tried four plays and kicked back to the Cards 48, Ehard returning to Woodstock's 47. McDonald, Nelson, and Kohler alternated in carrying the ball down to the 6 yard line on two first downs, but they were finally stopped there and Woodstock took over the reins. The Streaks failed on three passes but received the ball on the 16 yard line after a penalty by the Cards. The next pass clicked for 8 yards, but Bob Williams intercepted the following pass after blocking it and ran to the three yard line, where he was finally hauled down. Nelson went over guard to the 1 foot line and scored on the next play through the same position. Bokelman's kick for the extra point was good.

The fourth quarter started off as a punting duel but half way through the quarter the Cards started a march from their own 42 yard line. Again Nelson, Kohler, McDonald and Ehard alternated in carrying the ball down to the 12 yard line. Nelson went over from this point. Bokelman failed to convert. Woodstock tried vainly to score on passes but their attempts were futile and the game soon ended.

The Cards all played a good game and the spirit was exceptionally high.

Libertyville, Barrington Grant win; Antoch loses

Libertyville pried the lid off what appears to be another good season for Coach Art Bergstrom by whipping West Chicago of the Little Seven conference 18-6. The Wildcats scored in the opening period when Paul Schaffer caught a long pass and tallied. West Chicago came back to also score on a pass but Schaffer put Libertyville ahead by running over an interception. Late in the game Norm Ericksen, junior back, ran off tackle 45 yards for the final count. It was a typical opening game with both teams making plenty of mistakes in both execution and judgment.

McHenry 45, Antioch 0.

Antioch, unbeaten in Northwest Conference play the past two years, appears headed for a bad season if Friday's 45-0 shellacking at the hands of McHenry is a fair indication. Coach McCracken's eleven scored seven touchdowns over, around, and through the Antioch team and had three others nullified by penalties. McHenry found Antioch's ends weak and did not have much trouble gaining through the line but their best play against the Sequoits was the forward pass which resulted in three of the scores. Antioch outweighed McHenry but could not cope with the latter's speed

Grant 7, St. Marys 0.

A determined and hard driving Grant eleven threatened repeatedly and finally hit pay dirt in the final quarter to beat under manned St. Marys of Woodstock 7-0 in a night game at Fox Lake on Saturday. Coach Kirwin Stratton of Grant has a heavy, hard driving eleven which has hopes of going places this year. St. Marys used a razzle-dazzle style of play and came near scoring on several occasions but Grant always stopped them whene they got inside the 30 yard line. St. Marys was badly outweighed but compensated for this by speed and passing. Poor pass catching cost St. Marys the ball game. Grant hits a standout team at McHenry Friday night.

Barrington 6, Marengo 6

Coach Clark's Barrington Bronchos outplayed Marengo the whole game having possession of the ball 75 per cent of the time and being near the Marengo goal on seven different occasions, but had to settle for a tie. Staynor scored the Bronch touchdown in the second quarter. Barrington lost the ball on downs on one occasion on the one foot line. The game was played at Barrington Saturday. This Friday the Bronchos face tougher opposition in a night battle at Crystal Lake.

Crystal Lake outplays Palatine under lights, 20-0

Palatine lost the opening football game at Crystal Lake last Friday night 20-0 in a contest in which the Pirates were considerably over matched. The Lakers had speed, superior line play, and a lot of reserve man power. Palatine's lack of experienec played a prominent role in the scoring of all three Crystal Lake touchdowns. However, the Lakers could probably have scored more than 20 points had they elected to keep the varsity eleven in action most of the game.

The Pirates lost, but gained valuable experience for the coming conference season in which they will meet no one in the class of Crystal Lake. This Saturday Palatine's green outfit will get added seasoning in another non-conference tilt, this time at Leyden against their junior varsity. This means all Leyden's big squad except their 11 regulars are eligible to play against the Pirates.

Getting back to last Friday's defeat it is well to state that the Palatine team showed flashes of good football and that the backfield work of Douglas and Moody was really outstanding. The new tackle, Melville Cook, appeared to best advantage of the linemen, Palatine made five first downs to Crystal Lake's seven, but three of them came in the closing minutes of the game when Bob Douglas opened up on passes. Improvement in snaring the accurate tosses of Douglas will add a lot to the Palatine offense. A 30 yard completion to Herr was Palatine's longest gain of the evening.

The Lakers got into scoring position due to some defensive mistakes in the Palatine line and the stage was set on a 23 yard reverse which took the ball to the Pirate 15 yard line in the opening quarter. After a five yard gain Larsen ran around Palatine's left end for 10 yards and a touchdown and Tipps converted. In the second quarter a long punt rolled back to the Palatine 15 yard line and two plays later Moody fumbled and the Lakers recovered on the 22 yard line. On the sixth play Mead of Crystal Lake scored and Tipps again place kicked the extra point.

Again in the third period Crystal Lake got into a good scoring spot thru Palatine mistakes. The Pirates backed up to their own 17 yard line threw a short pass which the Lakers intercepted on the 25 yard line. Two 10 yard end runs followed by a penalty on Palatine's right end put the ball on the two yard line and Uceny scored easily on the next play. Palatine put on a little offensive in the last five minutes of play as Douglas and Moody plunged for some nice gains and Douglas tossed three short completions to Meyer and a 30 yard aerial to Herr.

Pirates host to Leyden Saturday

Coach Joe Botts at Leyden had a good ball team last fall and has a group of seven lettermen to bolster his chances for 1943. The Eagles play only Libertyville, Niles, and Arlington in the conference. Saturday Leyden will play Palatine at Franklin Park after meeting the Proviso JV team the night before. The starters against Proviso will be excused from the Palatine game.

Last year Palatine beat Leyden JV team 25-7, but their opponent will be much stronger this season. The Leyden varsity will include the following veterans: Bacle, 180 tackle; Guetzloff, 175 center and tackle; Jones, 140 back; Jagade, 185 back; McAuliff, 160 guard and tackle; Schroeder, 150 back; and Thomas, 160 back.

Palatine appeared to be much improved in their scrimmage with Arlington Tuesday. The Pirates marched 60 yards to score after Ehardt of the Cards had returned a touchdown the same distance to count a touchdown. Later Arlington scored again on a double reverse with Kohler going 45 yards. The Palatine line performed in much improved fashion. Hansen, 185 pound junior, did a good job Tuesday at filling the gap at right tackle. Cook, 170, plays left tackle and is a 170 pound junior. Bock and Capt. Oltendorf, seniors weighing 235 and 145 respectively are the guards. Herr, 145 pound senior, and Ullock, a soph weighing the same were the ends Tuesday. Goodwin, 155, was at center but shared the spot with Kolze, also a senior weighing 145. In the backfield Coach Stutzman used Douglas, 160 junior, at left half; Moody, 160 junior, at fullback; Smith, 130 soph, at quarterback; and divided time between Meyers, 140 senior, and Anderson, 175 junior, at right half.

THE SPOTLIGHT

Season's greetings . . . or "block that kick!" . . . "hold that line!" . . . "touchdown - touchdown - touchdown!"

Once again THE SPOTLIGHT is turned on — its rays dedicated to searching out the high spots . . . yes, and the low spots, too . . . of athletics as they're played by the individuals and the teams carrying the banner of Arlington Heights Township High School.

This corner will operate on the motto of giving credit where it is due, annd DISCREDIT where it is due — and the whole idea is to make Cardinal teams BETTER teams. By "better" we don't especially mean on the winning side, although that will follow automatically. Rather, by "better" we mean the development of the kind of teams that will reflect credit on A.H.T.H.S., and the boys competing in the colors of A.H.T.H.S.

We want to see Arlington Heights Township high school proud of its teams . . . and its teams proud of Arlington Heights Township high school. From such a mutual admiration society will spring teams that will be dominant in this area.

Let the student body adopt this slogan:

OUR TEAM — MAY IT ALWAYS WIN — BUT WIN OR LOSE — OUR TEAM!

And let the teams play in the full spirit and with the full purpose of that endorsement from their classmates.

CARDS OF THE WEEK—Back in 1930, Knute Rockne had a 145 pound guard playing on a line that carried the University of Notre Dame to the national collegiate football championship. His name was Bert Metzger, and they called him Rockne's "Watch Charm Guard."

Well, Coach Ken Barnhill of Arlington Heights has a "watch charm," too. Not one—but TWO, and they answer to the name of Bill and Bob Williams. Here are a couple of 130-pounders who are dynamite on the loose in a football suit.

As one follower of the Cardinal eleven remarked the other night: "Opposing teams try the middle of the Arlington line once . . . the Williams boys come up and introduce themselves—and then that's all, brother—that's all!"

There was a lot of fancy work by the Cardinal backfield in the 26-0 rout of Woodstock. Pat McDonald and Bob Kohler and Bob Nelson and Hank Ehard were pouring it on the Streaks all afternoon, with McDonald coming through with several dazzling ball-carrying displays.

But up there in the middle of the line, blocking and tackling and leading the way were the Williams boys — Ken, Barnhill's, "Watch Charm Guards."

And the Arlington backs would be the first to say — Give 'em the credit as—

THE CARDS OF THE WEEK!

Libertyville beat the Arlington eleven 19-0 last year. In 1941 the Chicago Bears beat the Washington Redskins, 73-0. In 1942 the Washington Redskins beat the Chicago Bears, 14-7.

Get the idea fellows — it's a new year! Let's continue to make it a HAPPY New Year, even if Jan. 1 is three months away.

One swallow doesn't make a summer — and of course, one football game doesn't make a season.

But there were encouraging factors about the Cardinal eleven's 26-0 defeat of Woodstock in the season's opening football game. Not the kind of factors that would tend to give the squad itself a feeling of smugness. But rather, the kind that would make it buckle down all the harder, secure in the knowledge that the material and the coaching leadership are at hand to make this one of the best football seasons Arlington Heights has known in some time.

Rival coaches in a position to know say that they note a new spirit about Arlington Heights teams. And that's the most encouraging sign of all, because spirit of the one-for-all and all-for-one kind is the basis of athletic success. Ask football coaches like Harry Stuhldreher and Frank Leahy, or major league baseball managers like Joe McCarthy and Jimmy Dykes, whether they prefer a group of stars, each intent on bettering his own reputation . . . or a TEAM in which individual effort and identity is forgotten in a striving for united effort and results, They'll pick the TEAM every time and let you have the stars. They'll not only take the players with team spirit, but they'll beat your stars most of the time. Joe McCarthy has fired more than one high-class ball player just because he couldn't forget himself as an individual.

So when rival coaches say there is a new spirit of team unity about Arlington athletes, that is encouraging.

To the boys on the squad, may we stress: BELIEVE IN YOUR TEAMMATES AND YOUR COACHES! In Ken Barnhill, Arlington is fortunate to have a coach who distinguished himself as an outstanding competitor in college athletics. Like other successful coaches he desires team effort over individual heroics. And on that foundation he will build winning teams at Arlington Heights.

The "Parent's Night" sponsored by the athletic committee of the Dad's Club last night at the high school was a first attempt in asking co-operation of fathers and mothers in assuring the success of an athletic season.

Parents of squad members can contribute invaluable aid to the coaching staff in making a success of the current football season. They can, in effect, set up the training rules for the squad by seeing that the boys get plenty of sleep and the right kind of food. And the boys themselves will rally to this "home training table" because they'll appreciate the interest of Dad and Mother in their athletic efforts.

At big universities playing major league football, the training problem is a bit different. There the coaches assemble the squad each night at a training table, and with all the squad members living on the campus, they are able to bring their own form of discipline to conditioning the squad.

But it is different in a high school, where the boys live at home and where the coaching staff has them under the personal direction for only two hours daily. Then the training problem becomes more of a "community" thing, as indeed, the team itself should be.

Parents, too, have a stake in the matter beyond the athletic interest of their own boys. Football injuries are rare to the WELL-EQUIPPED boy and the WELL-CONDITIONED boy. The high school is providing the boys with the equipment. How about supplying them with the training routine needed, parents?

Medical outlook in U.S. is favorable

1942 death rate lowest on record; births increasing

In spite of shortage of medical facilities in many places, the picture of civilian health in the United States is generally good, according to data from the U. S. Public Health Service, the War Manpower Commission, and Federal Works Agency. In 1942 the death rate was lowest on record, 10.3 per thousand, the birth rate had risen to 20.7 from 18.7 per thousand in 1941, and the maternal mortality rate dropped for the thirteenth consecutive year.

To compensate for the shortage of doctors in certain areas, the Public Health Service and the War Manpower Commission are taking many steps such as: seeking to shift doctors to shortage areas, limiting recruitment for armed services to 20 states and the District of Columbia, which are relatively well-supplied; helping local authorities organize cooperative use of medical facilities; and improving and increasing hospital and clinical facilities.

If it were not for their restrictive licensing laws, many states could draw on the pool of approximately 6,000 foreign doctors, many of whom have taken out only first citizenship papers. Only 50 of these men have been taken into the army because of stringent regulations concerning them.

Foreign doctors form the largest available reserve of physicians in the United States. Fully half of them are expected to return to Europe after the war and will not remain to displace men returning from the armed services.

Box cars

Rolling into seaports every day, seven days a week, are enough freight cars to carry the daily food of half of the people of America, and they're loaded with vital war materials and other freight for export. Sometimes this involves making up special trains and rushing them across the country with priority over track use in order to catch convoys. In everyday work, it involves maintaining near each of the ports of embarkation enough cars loaded with war freight to insure that no convoy shall be delayed, no ship shall fail to be loaded promptly. This freight job—only one of the major war jobs the railroads are doing—is part of the reason for occasional delays in regular service. Another part, of course, is the movement of troops. Just how big this job is may be seen by the fact that it means starting another freight train every four seconds; starting another special troop movement about every six minutes—day and night.

Sized ice

Things to come — Automatic tube ice machines which will produce "sized ice" for cooling beverages and foods, etc., without the necessity of chipping . . . Portable homes with living accommodations for four adults in a space 20 by 8 feet . . . Fluorescent lights for homes at practicable rates . . . Tire retread strips with 60 per cent less rubber, made with cotton warps and wefts made of reclaimed rubber cords.

Down payments

Down payment required to buy housing in rent-controlled areas has been reduced from 33⅓ per cent to 20 per cent. OPA amended the regulation because of easing the housing situation.

Potatoes

The 1943 crop of potatoes in the United States is expected to total 463 million bushels, according to the latest estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is an increase of more than 90 million bushels over the 1942 crop, and comes as a result of the program of increased production by American farmers to assure an adequate supply of this food, so important in the every day diet of America at war.

The 1943 production of potatoes will be large enough to meet all this nation's food requirements for direct military and civilian needs, provided none are wasted. To avoid wastage and assure efficient storage of a large portion of the late potato crop, the Commodity Credit Corporation will make or guarantee non-recourse loans to producers and handlers for U. S. No. 1 grade potatoes stored in approved farm storage, or cooperative and commercial warehouses. The loans will be made through local county War Boards on the basis of the potato support prices, which range from $1.85 to $2.20 per hundredweight in the Great Lakes Region, and which increase 15c, per hundredweight on December 1 and January 1. Growers or dealers may obtain information and the necessary forms for loans from the local USDA War Board.

Italian wheat

In spite of the war, the Italian wheat crop this year is believed to have been as large or even larger than the pre-war average, according to the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the Department of Agriculture. The 1943 crop may have amounted to as much as 280 million bushels. That estimate compares with unofficial estimates of 269 million bushels last year.

Bees

Beekeepers who are facing loss of their bees because of lack of sufficient natural food, may obtain additional sugar allotments if they are registered with OPA as industrial users. The supplemental allotment is limited to a maximum of 15 pounds per bee colony per year. Applications should be made in person or by mail to the local rationing board.

Savings

We're making money faster than we ever have before—and it amounts to $1,100 a year for each man, woman and child in the country. What's more, we're saving it at the rate of $284 each. That means that a family of five with an income of $5,500 a year which saves $1,420 a year represents the average for the country. The base figures for this conclusion appeared in a recent Department of Commerce report which found national income running at the rate of 143 billion dollars a year and individual savings at an annual rate of 37 billion dollars.

STRAIGHT FROM NEW YORK

THE EYES HAVE IT

Imagination runs rampant in this striking crepe New York creation. A purple skirt, and above it a spectacular bodice of Guatamalan pink that twinkles brightly with myriad long-lashed eyes embroidered in sequins.

Kerosene

Persons who use small amounts of kerosene for domestic cooking and lighting may now get renewal rations for periods longer than the six months formerly permitted. This provision of a recent OPA amendment is to reduce the number of renewal applications by the consumer and the amount of paper work performed by the rationing board. The amendment provides that rations issued for domestic cooking and lighting no longer will bear dates of issuance and expiration, and coupons may be used as long as they last. The rationing board may issue the ration for any period up to a year from date of application. The maximum ration allowed for domestic cooking has been increased to 30 gallons a month for the first seven persons. It was formerly 24 gallons for six or seven persons.

Gutters

Approval for use of gutters, spouting, conductor pipes, and fittings in dwelling of two stories or less must be obtained from the War Production Board under a recent amendment to Order M-126. Formerly this approval could be obtained through the National Housing Agency.

Burlap bags

Quotas on farmers and packers purchases of new burlap bags for packing certain agricultural products have been removed for the balance of 1943. "Certain agricultural products" includes, but is not limited to, beans, cotton, feed, flour, meal, fruits, potatoes, vegetables and tobacco. The restriction on the bag sizes permitted for certain commodities has been relaxed to allow an additional size for each of two types of seed. A ½ bushel-bag is allowed for hybrid seed corn, a 3 bushel-bag, for cottonseed. These are in addition to the sizes previously permitted.

Calories Measure Energy

A calorie is a unit for measuring energy. It is used to express both the energy requirement of the body and the energy value of food.

Vegetables

Seasonal crops were generally higher in price in the Chicago area today, according to Joe Tonkin, Federal Food Reporter for the War Food Administration. The cost of sweet corn, tomatoes, peppers and green beans advanced moderately. Reports from the field indicate that the approaching frosts will reduce supplies of "roasting ears" to a minimum. Michigan celery continues in good supply, along with squash, cucumbers, and spinach.

The first sweet potatoes of the season from southern Illinois are arriving on the market, with Nancy Halls, Puerto Ricans, and Jerseys, selling at relatively high levels.

The increase in the price of apples can be attributed locally to arrivals of better quality fruit at the dealers. Peaches are selling above last week's prices, along with pears and plums. Grapes haven't as yet reached the peak of the harvest season and for that reason are still in a cost bracket which places them outside the fruit and vegetable group suitable for preserving or canning.

Raisins

West Coast packers have been authorized to release from 120,000 to 130,000 tons of dried raisins and prunes from their 1943 production for sale to civilians through the regular commercial trade channels, the War Food Administration said on September 10, 1943. Additional quantities will be released later.

The released quantities will include from 55,000 to 60,000 tons of raisins and from 65,000 to 70,000 tons of prunes from the 1943 pack. These supplies will come from the raisins and prunes which packers are required to set aside for Government use under Food Distribution Order 16. The order requires that the entire 1943 pack of dried raisins, prunes, apples, apricots, peaches, pears, and currants be set-aside for Government use but provides for the release of quantities of these dried fruits for civilian consumption.

Cabbages, shrimps

Ceiling prices for 1942 cabbage seed have been made the same as for the 1943 crop, according to a recent OPA amendment. Consumer prices for fresh shrimp may be 40 to 50 percent less because of a recent OPA amendment setting prices in accord with the 1942 average prices for shrimp.

Free matches

If your tobacco dealer gave you free matches—the wood or the book variety—during March, 1942, when he sold you your tobacco products, he must continue to give them to you now. Sales through vending machines are included in the new OPA ruling on matches.

Auto tax

Although use of automobiles by the public was cut 40 per cent in the first half of this year, motorists paid about as much in Federal automotive taxes as they did last year, says the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Dry beans

Sales of dry edible beans, 1943 crop, to the Food Distribution Administration, to other country shippers, and to other governmental agencies designated in Food Distribution Order No. 45, can be made at either of two sets of prices — maximum prices established for the commodity or support prices set for specified classes last April by the War Food Administration. OPA emphasized that all other sales must be made at or below maximum prices established in Maximum Price Regulation No. 270.

Imagination runs rampant in this striking crepe New York creation. A purple skirt, and above it a spectacular bodice of Guatamalan pink that twinkles brightly with myriad long-lashed eyes embroidered in sequins.

Kerosene

Persons who use small amounts of kerosene for domestic cooking and lighting may now get renewal rations for periods longer than the six months formerly permitted. This provision of a recent OPA amendment is to reduce the number of renewal applications by the consumer and the amount of paper work performed by the rationing board. The amendment provides that rations issued for domestic cooking and lighting no longer will bear dates of issuance and expiration, and coupons may be used as long as they last. The rationing board may issue the ration for any period up to a year from date of application. The maximum ration allowed for domestic cooking has been increased to 30 gallons a month for the first seven persons. It was formerly 24 gallons for six or seven persons.

Gutters

Approval for use of gutters, spouting, conductor pipes, and fittings in dwelling of two stories or less must be obtained from the War Production Board under a recent amendment to Order M-126. Formerly this approval could be obtained through the National Housing Agency.

Burlap bags

Quotas on farmers and packers purchases of new burlap bags for packing certain agricultural products have been removed for the balance of 1943. "Certain agricultural products" includes, but is not limited to, beans, cotton, feed, flour, meal, fruits, potatoes, vegetables and tobacco. The restriction on the bag sizes permitted for certain commodities has been relaxed to allow an additional size for each of two types of seed. A ½ bushel-bag is allowed for hybrid seed corn, a 3 bushel-bag, for cottonseed. These are in addition to the sizes previously permitted.

Vegetables

Seasonal crops were generally higher in price in the Chicago area today, according to Joe Tonkin, Federal Food Reporter for the War Food Administration. The cost of sweet corn, tomatoes, peppers and green beans advanced moderately. Reports from the field indicate that the approaching frosts will reduce supplies of "roasting ears" to a minimum. Michigan celery continues in good supply, along with squash, cucumbers, and spinach.

The first sweet potatoes of the season from southern Illinois are arriving on the market, with Nancy Halls, Puerto Ricans, and Jerseys, selling at relatively high levels.

The increase in the price of apples can be attributed locally to arrivals of better quality fruit at the dealers. Peaches are selling above last week's prices, along with pears and plums. Grapes haven't as yet reached the peak of the harvest season and for that reason are still in a cost bracket which places them outside the fruit and vegetable group suitable for preserving or canning.

Raisins

West Coast packers have been authorized to release from 120,000 to 130,000 tons of dried raisins and prunes from their 1943 production for sale to civilians through the regular commercial trade channels, the War Food Administration said on September 10, 1943. Additional quantities will be released later.

The released quantities will include from 55,000 to 60,000 tons of raisins and from 65,000 to 70,000 tons of prunes from the 1943 pack. These supplies will come from the raisins and prunes which packers are required to set aside for Government use under Food Distribution Order 16. The order requires that the entire 1943 pack of dried raisins, prunes, apples, apricots, peaches, pears, and currants be set-aside for Government use but provides for the release of quantities of these dried fruits for civilian consumption.

Cabbages, shrimps

Ceiling prices for 1942 cabbage seed have been made the same as for the 1943 crop, according to a recent OPA amendment. Consumer prices for fresh shrimp may be 40 to 50 percent less because of a recent OPA amendment setting prices in accord with the 1942 average prices for shrimp.

Free matches

If your tobacco dealer gave you free matches—the wood or the book variety—during March, 1942, when he sold you your tobacco products, he must continue to give them to you now. Sales through vending machines are included in the new OPA ruling on matches.

Auto tax

Although use of automobiles by the public was cut 40 per cent in the first half of this year, motorists paid about as much in Federal automotive taxes as they did last year, says the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Dry beans

Sales of dry edible beans, 1943 crop, to the Food Distribution Administration, to other country shippers, and to other governmental agencies designated in Food Distribution Order No. 45, can be made at either of two sets of prices — maximum prices established for the commodity or support prices set for specified classes last April by the War Food Administration. OPA emphasized that all other sales must be made at or below maximum prices established in Maximum Price Regulation No. 270.

Local truck gardeners win awards at harvest festival

Gold plaque awarded to entire group

A gold plaque was awarded to the commercial exhibit made by the vegetable growers of Cook county and surrounding counties at the Harvest Festival held September 9-10-11 at Soldiers Field. The show was under the auspices of the Chicago Sun and Elmer J. Steil was chairman of the Commercial Vegetable Growers Exhibits. Numerous growers of the county were solicited to turn in commercial exhibits and these were gathered up at the Farm Bureau and Truck Gardeners' Offices and taken into Chicago and put on display. This was a very outstanding display and gave Chicago people a good impression of the types of produce grown on vegetable farms in the commercial area.

Fall pastures of rye offset feed shortage

Illinois dairymen can do nothing more important to offset shortages in hay and other feed than to seed a small acreage to rye in early September for late fall pasture this year and early spring pasture in 1944, says C. S. Rhode, extension dairy specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Demonstrations conducted on the University's dairy farm at Urbana indicate the high value of rye in a pasture program. A combination of rye for late fall and early spring and Sudan grass for summer, produces more milk an acre than any pasture crop grown on the dairy farm, Rhode states.

After the rye is pastured off in the spring, it is turned under and seeded to Sudan grass. Usually one acre of rye for two or three cows is sufficient. It should be seeded at the rate of one and three-fourths to two bushels an acre. An annual application of manure should be applied to fields used in this way.

"Wide adoption of the rye-Sudan program will be an important step in meeting problems connected with increased milk production," he adds.

To study milk regulation at meeting Sept. 30

At the request of a majority of milk producers supplying the suburban Chicago area, a public hearing has been called to consider a proposal that milk marketing in the area be brought under federal regulation. The hearing will be held at 10 a. m., September 30, at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago.

In its petition for a hearing, the Pure Milk association (which represents approximately 60 per cent of the producers in the milkshed) contended that federal regulation is necessary to maintain stability in producer prices and marketing conditions.

The order proposed by the Association defines the suburban Chicago marketing area to include adjacent counties in Illinois and Indiana, and, as in federal milk orders for other markets, provides for the classification of milk, and the designation of an administrator for the market.

On the basis of August figures, the price formulas proposed in the order would set the minimum producer price for Class 1 (fluid) milk at $3.29 per hundredweight, the price of Class 2 milk (cream, cottage cheese and milk drinks) at $2.91 per hundredweight, Class 3 milk (for frozen dairy foods) at $2.59, and Class 4 milk (butter and cheese) at $2.49. These prices are in line with those of the Chicago market and on the average do not vary greatly from those now being paid in the suburban area.

Before the War Food Administration can issue an order regulating milk marketing in the area, it must be approved by at least three-fourths of the producers supplying milk to the market. A marketing agreement must also be signed by handlers of at least 50 per cent of the milk. If the required number of handlers do not sign the agreement, the War Food Administrator may submit the proposed order to the President and, if he approves, issue the order without handler approval.

Built-up litter should start as pullets housed

Poultrymen planning to use built-up litter this winter should start when the pullets are housed, says L. E. Card, extension poultry specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

About one and one-half to two inches of litter should be put in at first and no more should be added until that has been well broken up. A little more may be added, as needed, until by the middle of November the litter is built up to a depth of four inches. By the first of January it may be as much as six inches deep, but that is about the limit.

If it tends to grow deeper, some of the litter may be removed, Card points out. Usually it is sufficient to take out the damp litter around the water fountains at regular intervals. Deep litter, to be successful, must be stirred frequently. If the fowls do not keep it stirred up, poultrymen can keep it from packing by raking it or stirring it with a fork about once a week.

Almost any good litter material may be used, but ground corn cobs are about the best, he adds.

Proper feeding and smart marketing marks pig outlook

Money saved by marketing hogs ahead of season

With the 1943 spring pig crop 22 per cent above last year's, marketing should be done early this fall to prevent congestion at packing plants and deduction of carrying charges from paying prices returned to farmers, says Carl Bormet, war board chairman for Cook county.

Although hogs have been moving to market faster than a year ago, those shipped this summer have been largely from the fall crop of 1942. Marketings from the 1943 spring crop do not usually get under way in volume until about October.

Carrying charges result from holding hogs over for two or three days at the stock yards until facilities permit slaughtering them. Manpower shortages and storage limitations are contributing to this problem, Bormet points out. Packers are able to pay more for hogs that can be slaughtered the same day they are received than if they must be held for several days.

Another factor is the feed supply. Not only is it in a tight situation, but it also has to be divided equitably among hogs, dairy cattle, poultry, etc. Keeping hogs back until later is, in a sense, wasteful of feed.

"No price advantage is likely to be gained by holding marketable hogs for sale later," Bormet states. "The OPA is issuing a price ceiling of $14.75, Chicago basis, on live hogs."

Potato Industry Grows

Starch factories and dehydrating plants that have sprung up in northern Maine since Pearl Harbor prove that America's uses for the potato are increasing. Maine's Aroostook county has the loam and climate to win top rank among the nation's potato regions. It normally grows one-ninth of the nation's crop. Its farms average 270 bushels per acre against a national average of 130 bushels. Increased acreage needs only the co-operation of the weather to make a record crop in 1943.

Not too late to sign for 1943 AAA program

It is not too late to sign up for the 1943 AAA program, for no deadline has been set. Any person can sign a AAA farm plan at the county office, says Mr. Carl Bormet, county Triple-A chairman.

Q. When does the 1943 program year end?

A. December 31, 1943.

Q. What payments will be made?

A. Conservation payments on special allotments of corn, wheat, cotton and tobacco. In addition, there will be payments for carrying out recommended practices up to the total soil allowance. In certain instances, an Irish potato and truck crop payment will be made to commercial producers who have already signed up for it.

Q. Will there be any parity payments?

A. Yes, payment will be made in the near future to farmers who cooperated with the 1942 AAA program. There will be no parity payments made in connection with the 1942 program.

Q. What is required in addition to signing up to receive payments this year?

A. Ninety per cent of the war-crop goal requirement has to be met, unless weather conditions prevent. Sufficient soil-building practices must also be performed to cover the allowance for maximum payment.

Q. How will performance be checked?

A. The farmer will do his own checking and report to the county AAA committeeman.

Q. What must the farmer report?

A. The correct names, addresses and share of each party having an interest in the special crop allotment on the farm. Also, the acreages of various crops being produced on the farm and the amount of each soil-building practice carried out with the contribution made to each practice by each person helping carry it out. If there are practices still to be carried out, the committeeman will give the farmer a blank to fill out and send to the county office when the practice is completed.

It is not too late to earn the soil-building allowance, also.

"Back the Attack"

Good management practices help pigs to market

"This little pig went to market" because its owner followed good feed and management practices that enabled it to reach marketable size and quality," says the department of animal pathology and hygiene, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

It's common knowledge that a wormy pig will never get big, and the same is true of pigs that are victims of other diseases and ailments. The best and most economical gains in hogs depend on keeping the animals healthy and feeding them rations selected for growth and fattening according to their stage of development. Such management means that more feed goes into pork production and less is needed for fighting off the attacks of disease enemies and for maintenance.

A sound basis for hog health is the swine sanitation system under which young pigs are raised on clean pasture. Hog cholera, although still a dangerous disease, can be controlled with reasonable certainty by vaccination. In spite of the fact that the death rate from cholera is one-fifth of what it was 20 years ago, the disease is still so costly that vaccination is advisable in all areas where outbreaks have occurred in recent years. It tends to spread most rapidly in areas where swine are numerous.

Many swine ailments can be prevented by good management. Keeping hogs comfortable as well as healthy means fewer losses and greater gains for the feed consumed, the department points out.

A gold plaque was awarded to the commercial exhibit made by the vegetable growers of Cook county and surrounding counties at the Harvest Festival held September 9-10-11 at Soldiers Field. The show was under the auspices of the Chicago Sun and Elmer J. Steil was chairman of the Commercial Vegetable Growers Exhibits. Numerous growers of the county were solicited to turn in commercial exhibits and these were gathered up at the Farm Bureau and Truck Gardeners' Offices and taken into Chicago and put on display. Fall pastures of rye offset feed shortage

Illinois dairymen can do nothing more important to offset shortages in hay and other feed than to seed a small acreage to rye in early September for late fall pasture this year and early spring pasture in 1944, says C. S. Rhode, extension dairy specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Demonstrations conducted on the University's dairy farm at Urbana indicate the high value of rye in a pasture program. A combination of rye for late fall and early spring and Sudan grass for summer, produces more milk an acre than any pasture crop grown on the dairy farm, Rhode states.

After the rye is pastured off in the spring, it is turned under and seeded to Sudan grass. Usually one acre of rye for two or three cows is sufficient. It should be seeded at the rate of one and three-fourths to two bushels an acre. An annual application of manure should be applied to fields used in this way.

"Wide adoption of the rye-Sudan program will be an important step in meeting problems connected with increased milk production," he adds.

To study milk regulation at meeting Sept. 30

At the request of a majority of milk producers supplying the suburban Chicago area, a public hearing has been called to consider a proposal that milk marketing in the area be brought under federal regulation. The hearing will be held at 10 a. m., September 30, at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago.

In its petition for a hearing, the Pure Milk association (which represents approximately 60 per cent of the producers in the milkshed) contended that federal regulation is necessary to maintain stability in producer prices and marketing conditions.

The order proposed by the Association defines the suburban Chicago marketing area to include adjacent counties in Illinois and Indiana, and, as in federal milk orders for other markets, provides for the classification of milk, and the designation of an administrator for the market.

On the basis of August figures, the price formulas proposed in the order would set the minimum producer price for Class 1 (fluid) milk at $3.29 per hundredweight, the price of Class 2 milk (cream, cottage cheese and milk drinks) at $2.91 per hundredweight, Class 3 milk (for frozen dairy foods) at $2.59, and Class 4 milk (butter and cheese) at $2.49. These prices are in line with those of the Chicago market and on the average do not vary greatly from those now being paid in the suburban area.

Before the War Food Administration can issue an order regulating milk marketing in the area, it must be approved by at least three-fourths of the producers supplying milk to the market. A marketing agreement must also be signed by handlers of at least 50 per cent of the milk. If the required number of handlers do not sign the agreement, the War Food Administrator may submit the proposed order to the President and, if he approves, issue the order without handler approval.

Built-up litter should start as pullets housed

Poultrymen planning to use built-up litter this winter should start when the pullets are housed, says L. E. Card, extension poultry specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

About one and one-half to two inches of litter should be put in at first and no more should be added until that has been well broken up. A little more may be added, as needed, until by the middle of November the litter is built up to a depth of four inches. By the first of January it may be as much as six inches deep, but that is about the limit.

If it tends to grow deeper, some of the litter may be removed, Card points out. Usually it is sufficient to take out the damp litter around the water fountains at regular intervals. Deep litter, to be successful, must be stirred frequently. If the fowls do not keep it stirred up, poultrymen can keep it from packing by raking it or stirring it with a fork about once a week.

Almost any good litter material may be used, but ground corn cobs are about the best, he adds.

Proper feeding and smart marketing marks pig outlook

Money saved by marketing hogs ahead of season

With the 1943 spring pig crop 22 per cent above last year's, marketing should be done early this fall to prevent congestion at packing plants and deduction of carrying charges from paying prices returned to farmers, says Carl Bormet, war board chairman for Cook county.

Although hogs have been moving to market faster than a year ago, those shipped this summer have been largely from the fall crop of 1942. Marketings from the 1943 spring crop do not usually get under way in volume until about October.

Carrying charges result from holding hogs over for two or three days at the stock yards until facilities permit slaughtering them. Manpower shortages and storage limitations are contributing to this problem, Bormet points out. Packers are able to pay more for hogs that can be slaughtered the same day they are received than if they must be held for several days.

Another factor is the feed supply. Not only is it in a tight situation, but it also has to be divided equitably among hogs, dairy cattle, poultry, etc. Keeping hogs back until later is, in a sense, wasteful of feed.

"No price advantage is likely to be gained by holding marketable hogs for sale later," Bormet states. "The OPA is issuing a price ceiling of $14.75, Chicago basis, on live hogs."

Potato Industry Grows

Starch factories and dehydrating plants that have sprung up in northern Maine since Pearl Harbor prove that America's uses for the potato are increasing. Maine's Aroostook county has the loam and climate to win top rank among the nation's potato regions. It normally grows one-ninth of the nation's crop. Its farms average 270 bushels per acre against a national average of 130 bushels. Increased acreage needs only the co-operation of the weather to make a record crop in 1943.

Not too late to sign for 1943 AAA program

It is not too late to sign up for the 1943 AAA program, for no deadline has been set. Any person can sign a AAA farm plan at the county office, says Mr. Carl Bormet, county Triple-A chairman.

Q. When does the 1943 program year end?

A. December 31, 1943.

Q. What payments will be made?

A. Conservation payments on special allotments of corn, wheat, cotton and tobacco. In addition, there will be payments for carrying out recommended practices up to the total soil allowance. In certain instances, an Irish potato and truck crop payment will be made to commercial producers who have already signed up for it.

Q. Will there be any parity payments?

A. Yes, payment will be made in the near future to farmers who cooperated with the 1942 AAA program. There will be no parity payments made in connection with the 1942 program.

Q. What is required in addition to signing up to receive payments this year?

A. Ninety per cent of the war-crop goal requirement has to be met, unless weather conditions prevent. Sufficient soil-building practices must also be performed to cover the allowance for maximum payment.

Q. How will performance be checked?

A. The farmer will do his own checking and report to the county AAA committeeman.

Q. What must the farmer report?

A. The correct names, addresses and share of each party having an interest in the special crop allotment on the farm. Also, the acreages of various crops being produced on the farm and the amount of each soil-building practice carried out with the contribution made to each practice by each person helping carry it out. If there are practices still to be carried out, the committeeman will give the farmer a blank to fill out and send to the county office when the practice is completed.

It is not too late to earn the soil-building allowance, also.

"Back the Attack"

Good management practices help pigs to market

"This little pig went to market" because its owner followed good feed and management practices that enabled it to reach marketable size and quality," says the department of animal pathology and hygiene, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

It's common knowledge that a wormy pig will never get big, and the same is true of pigs that are victims of other diseases and ailments. The best and most economical gains in hogs depend on keeping the animals healthy and feeding them rations selected for growth and fattening according to their stage of development. Such management means that more feed goes into pork production and less is needed for fighting off the attacks of disease enemies and for maintenance.

A sound basis for hog health is the swine sanitation system under which young pigs are raised on clean pasture. Hog cholera, although still a dangerous disease, can be controlled with reasonable certainty by vaccination. In spite of the fact that the death rate from cholera is one-fifth of what it was 20 years ago, the disease is still so costly that vaccination is advisable in all areas where outbreaks have occurred in recent years. It tends to spread most rapidly in areas where swine are numerous.

Many swine ailments can be prevented by good management. Keeping hogs comfortable as well as healthy means fewer losses and greater gains for the feed consumed, the department points out.

MEANS END OF ARMY MULE

It has been said of the army mule that he absorbed more food, endured more blows, stood for more profanity and performed more work than any other creature that ever came in contact with man.

Now if we are to believe certain rumors to the newspapers, the time is at hand when there isn't going to be any army mule. He isn't even to be taken into the military service to maintain a tradition to provide veterans with stories or to develop the art of cussing.

The substitute for the mule's thews is a mechansim that looks like a bass drum with a pair of wheels. It is said to be just iron and power, with an incidental thirst for liquid fuel. It is warranted to pull entire trains of wagons, to make armies hump to keep up with it. Tests with it have shown that by its sole efforts it will carry the provender and equipment of an entire regiment and think nothing of carrying the regiment along too. This possibly is exaggeration but it is plain enough that the army has become emancipated from the mule. This fellow could do wonders but this tractor affair will do miracles and that is what the army men pray for.

GERMAN CAPTIVES PLEASED

The few German prisoners who have been turned over to work for the United States in exchange for their food, are fairly in rapture over their situation. The food of the Americans is a never-ceasing marvel to them. They work like men possessed in order that they may not be disqualified from participating in the American rations and they are the envy of their less fortunate fellows.

Camp Grant, Sept. 17, 1917 — We are all fine and appreciate the kindness on our departure. We are receiving considerable drilling and expect to be fairly posted on all the drills by the time the balance of the boys arrive. Edward C. Fat was detailed to unload about 12 carloads of horses and 6 carloads of mules. He did not mind unloading horses but he did not like the mules as they were too rough to handle and he kept his distance in back of the old mules. From the boys, Wm. J. Hefferen, Jr., Edward C. Fat, and Walter F. Sieburg.

PRICE RAISED TO $2 A YEAR

We are forced to raise the price to keep up and improve the quality of this paper. After August 1, 1917, the regular subscription price of this paper will be $2 a year. Until October 5, 1917, we will allow a special discount of 25 cents a year on the half German edition and 50 cents a year on the American edition, where subscriptions are paid strictly cash in advance, without expense to the publisher, H. C. Paddock. Increased cost of everything does not permit credit so when a person's time expires his name will either be dropped or changed to the cheaper edition.

Fred Wulff says he has 28 relatives in the German army. It is hard for Americans to fight their relatives; but the soldiers are not to blame — it is the bosses.

Paris — "Fighting Jack" Pershing paid his first flying visit to the American Traning Camp in France, and left behind him a trail of burning ears, electrified men and a spirit of grim, military doggedness that brought the newest recruit to a realization that war, even in the training may be all General Sherman said it was, and then some.

Wyoming

From Laramie, Wyoming, this week comes word from Hans Heuer of Arlington Heights.

"I'm now at a STAR unit (specialized training and reassignment) located at the University of Wyoming at Laramie, Wyo. This place is swell. The chow is fit for a king, but we still have drilling and schooling here while waiting for orders to be shipped to college.

"There are no barracks for us, but we use the dormitories for living quarters and is this the life."

His address is Pvt. H. J. Heuer, 36665373 Co A Dray's Cottage 3701 Star Unit, Laramie, Wyoming.

Louisiana

Private Andrea Moretti, a Mt. Prospect boy, has been home on leave for the past ten days. He has been in miiltary service for the past five months, stationed at Fort Warren, Wyo. After taking his five weeks of basic training, he spent eight weeks at his own home job of shoe repairing. Because of his long experience, he was made instructor for the Salvage Repair Co.

He has now been transferred to to Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, as a shoe repairman, but at present, he says he's being used for street and bridge construction, with the engineers. Moretti says he learns fast in the army, moving from shoe repairman, to bridge builder and then to road construction — all in one short period of time.

Moretti, a native born Italian, entered the United States in 1938, and is very proud that he now has his citizenship papers, which he acquired in Wyoming after entering service. He is very happy to be an American, his one regret being that he was not born here.

The American way of life, says Moretti, is far superior to the Italian. He says America progresses. Italians stand still and do not look toward a better future. Moretti attributes his good start in America to the kindness and congeniality of the Boy Scouts. They accepted him in their troop and helped him to undertsand the ways of America, as well as the language. He also says that Mr. Gallagher, his school principal, through his unlimited patience, helped him learn the language. To quote Moretti, "Gallagher did a swell job of teaching and had much patience. He is a good man."

Because of his knowlege of Italian, Moretti was placed in the Interpreting Corps, which made him very happy. However, when it was discovered that he had no high school training, he had to be rejected. So he says he's going to see to it that little brother, Tony goes to high school and takes advantage of the opportunities of America.

Moretti's leave ends this week, but he says, "At Camp it's swell to get the Mt. Prospect Herald and read about my buddies."

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Mary:

This letter about Charlotte Mary is not merely the excuse of a doting mother to talk about her only daughter . . . it is also a sincere attempt on my part to talk over with you some of my ideas regarding little girls . . . since little girls have a tendency to grow up into women, it will also include some of my ideas concerning women . . . now don't let the rather serious tone of these first sentences alarm you . . . you will know when I'm speaking with my tongue in my cheek . . . and you will know when I'm laughing with you at some of the ideas . . .

As a starter, I like little girls and women to be PRETTY . . . that word PRETTY, I know, is odious to modern artists . . . to say a modern canvas is PRETTY, is to insult the artist . . . so at the risk of being called quaint and old-fashioned, I say I like pretty women . . . I enjoy looking at them . . . I don't believe this is a masculine trait in me . . . from what I've seen, men often overlook a truly beautiful woman . . . they're more attracted to flashy clothes, a ready wit or just plain good sportsmanship . . . there was a girl on the campus, when I was in school, who never came into a classroom without a following of six to eight attentive males, yet she had a cast in one eye so bad that none of them ever seemed to know whether she was talking to them or to some one on the opposite side of the room! . . . I hope Charlotte will be pretty some day . . . right now, I must say in all honesty that she is the plainest of my children . . . her hair is blond but not a true gold like Louis' . . . neither is it curly like his . . . it couldn't be straighter and it's so fine it can't even be parted . . . her eyes are still a deep blue at twenty one months, so I have hopes for them . . . but they're not set far apart like Davy's . . . her lashes are black and fairly thick, but they don't curl up on the ends like his . . . the modern artist, if he read this, would say that I should paint cows! . . . I'm in despair about her nose, Mary! . . . it dosen't seem to have grown any since she was born . . . her mouth though, buoys up my hopes again . . . it is the rosebud of your sweet little poem . . . her figure, I don't allow myself to think about . . . surely she'll thin out . . . right now she looks exactly like I did one week before J. D. was born! . .

But if Charlotte is the plainest of my children, she's also the smartest . . . unless she can become so smart that she can make her brothers and most other men believe she's a little dumb, I don't believe she'll be very happy, do you? . . . really brainy women have to wait until they're quite middle aged to relax and enjoy their brains, don't you think? . . . men still prefer women who look up at them and say, "Aren't you wonderful." in answer to any and every question, I think . . . but you must tell me if I'm hopelessly out of date about this . . . if I were a man, I'd pick me out the prettiest woman I could find and one who would never say more than that . . . after all you can't enjoy cuddling a woman if you suspect her of working a problem in calculus with lightning-like rapidity while you're doing it . . . nor can you enjoy protecting her if you know she's more than capable of doing it herself . . .

I would like Charlotte to be dainty . . . I hope she has small hands with slender fingers . . . slim legs and ankles and small narrow feet . . . alas, that dates me! . . . the young girls that I see today seem to glory in their bigness . . . unless fashion swings about in the next decade, I shall have to save her father's old shoes for her . . . I would like Charlotte to be fastidious . . . what fun will I have when she's in high school, if I have to buy her those enormous, sloppy sweaters that hang in folds below her waist? . . . or those pleated skirts of bold plaid that barely cover the buttocks and display the backs of huge thighs? . . . I'll never like big fat legs that end in wooly socks falling down over dirty flatheeled golf shoes . . . and why do they HAVE to be dirty? . . . when you and I were in our teens we'd have starved ourselves before we'd become hippy . . . those of our friends who were unfortunate enough to have fat legs always covered them with long skirts . . . remember? . . . now a days, I can tell a young girl from a young boy even if they're a block away and the girl has slacks on, because the girl is exactly twice as wide as the boy . . . do tell me that I'm exaggerating and that by the time Charlotte is in high school I'll have mellowed down and not feel so strongly about all this . . .

Charlotte has just departed for a walk with her father and two older brothers . . . she simply wriggled with pleasure and excitement in spite of the fact that she was dressed in a polo shirt and a pair of overalls, handed down through Davy and Louis to her . . . she had a beret on the back of her head that came not only from Davy and Louis, but cousins Benny and Bobby as well . . . ah me! . . . have I just been dreaming of a dainty and fastidious daughter? . . . I'm enclosing a sketch of Charlotte and little Danny Greer . . . I made it one Sunday afternoon when I did have her dressed as I would like her to be always . . . I don't dress her in dainty clothes very often because she's still too much of a baby to keep herself clean . . . I think white dresses, slips, panties and shoes are beautiful if tney're spotless, but I hate them if they're soiled . . . a baby is beautiful to me only when it's spotless . . . you wouldn't notice one more wart on a wart hog, but a wart on a rose would be repulsive . . . or don't you think so? . . .

Davy has become such a help to me that I find myself frequently thinking, if he can do so much, what will not Charlotte be able to do when she's six . . . it isn't that I want help from my children so much as it is the companionship I look forward to . . . there is no question now about Davy and Louis preferring to be with their father . . . I'm still first if they're sick or frightened but these times Deos Gratias, are not very often . . . I so hope Charlotte will like to cook, keep house and sew with me . . . I can't expect real interest in these things from the boys . . . just at present she can stand on her head as well as Louis, she can imitate the noise of a plane as well as Davy . . . if you show her a magaine she points out the trucks and trains . . . to be sure, she has a family of three dolls, Patsy, Gladys and Gwendoline, but she flings them down on their heads if either of her adored brothers appears . . . from the way things look now, I can expect some day in the future when I ask her to sew with me, to have her grab up a baseball bat and say to me as she flings out of the house, "Sorry Mom, but I'm on the team" . . . well . . . I can still dream and hope can't I? . . .

We all send our love and I wait anxiously for your next letter.

As always,
Eleanore.

"Back the Attack"

A Letter From Bud

Ma and me just wrote Bud a sad letter
For the news that we had to convey,
Was the death of our Old Friend and Neighbor
Buddie's Hero and Pal — Daddy Gray.

This old Soldier and Bud was real Cronies
From the time that Boy was just four,
When he won Buddie's heart with his stories
Of the Battles in our Civil War.

I remember my Father a tellin'
When them Soldiers had fired their last guns,
How Bob Gray came back home and got married
And in time had two wonderful sons.

But the years were not kind to this Soldier
And before his two boys was full grown,
God had made them a home up in Heaven
Leavin' two broken hearts to bemoan.

When the first Autumn leaves started fallin'
Then that Mother's heart wavered and died,
So he buried her there on the Hilltop
With the sons that she loved by her side.

Then for years Daddy Gray kept on farmin'
'Til his strength failed and eyesight grew dim,
Still his old, weary feet beat a pathway
To that Hilltop that beckoned to him.

Up there 'neath the big weepin' willows
In the shadows them marble stones cast,
He would work with the flowers he had planted
While he lived in his dreams of the past.

And t'was there Ma and me found him layin'
With his eyes closed and breath comin' hard,
Close behind him on that windswept Hilltop
His Old Dog stood a last, lonely guard.

Then we carried our Old Friend and Neighbor
On that pitiful path down the Hill,
He aroused once to say "How's my Buddy"
Then he smiled and his slight form grew still

From his smile we knew Daddy was meetin'
His own loved ones on that yonder shore,
Thru our tears Ma and me was a prayin'
As he passed thru God's wide open door.

Then the G.A.R. handled his fun'ral
Soundin' "Taps" as they laid him away,
But we know the Old Vet'rans in Heaven
Welcomed him with a sweet Reveille.

So he's sleepin' there high on the Hilltop
With his sons and the wife of his love,
'Neath the flowers that he tenderly planted
While the Flag that he served floats above.

—Henry H. DeTray

Iceland

Art Lemke of Arlington Heights writes this week from Iceland.

"Have been planning to write for quite some time and thank you for the Enterprise that's coming in quite regular. Although the last seven or eight weeks I've only seen one of them. In the near future I hope the rest of them catch up to me, as reading the home news helps a lot.

"The country here is almost like the States except trying to speak the language. That's a puzzle. Another thing is the nights and days: during the summer it's light all the time and during the winter it's dark. That's the time to catch up on sleep.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Mary:

This letter about Charlotte Mary is not merely the excuse of a doting mother to talk about her only daughter . . . it is also a sincere attempt on my part to talk over with you some of my ideas regarding little girls . . . since little girls have a tendency to grow up into women, it will also include some of my ideas concerning women . . . now don't let the rather serious tone of these first sentences alarm you . . . you will know when I'm speaking with my tongue in my cheek . . . and you will know when I'm laughing with you at some of the ideas . . .

As a starter, I like little girls and women to be PRETTY . . . that word PRETTY, I know, is odious to modern artists . . . to say a modern canvas is PRETTY, is to insult the artist . . . so at the risk of being called quaint and old-fashioned, I say I like pretty women . . . I enjoy looking at them . . . I don't believe this is a masculine trait in me . . . from what I've seen, men often overlook a truly beautiful woman . . . they're more attracted to flashy clothes, a ready wit or just plain good sportsmanship . . . there was a girl on the campus, when I was in school, who never came into a classroom without a following of six to eight attentive males, yet she had a cast in one eye so bad that none of them ever seemed to know whether she was talking to them or to some one on the opposite side of the room! . . . I hope Charlotte will be pretty some day . . . right now, I must say in all honesty that she is the plainest of my children . . . her hair is blond but not a true gold like Louis' . . . neither is it curly like his . . . it couldn't be straighter and it's so fine it can't even be parted . . . her eyes are still a deep blue at twenty one months, so I have hopes for them . . . but they're not set far apart like Davy's . . . her lashes are black and fairly thick, but they don't curl up on the ends like his . . . the modern artist, if he read this, would say that I should paint cows! . . . I'm in despair about her nose, Mary! . . . it dosen't seem to have grown any since she was born . . . her mouth though, buoys up my hopes again . . . it is the rosebud of your sweet little poem . . . her figure, I don't allow myself to think about . . . surely she'll thin out . . . right now she looks exactly like I did one week before J. D. was born! . .

But if Charlotte is the plainest of my children, she's also the smartest . . . unless she can become so smart that she can make her brothers and most other men believe she's a little dumb, I don't believe she'll be very happy, do you? . . . really brainy women have to wait until they're quite middle aged to relax and enjoy their brains, don't you think? . . . men still prefer women who look up at them and say, "Aren't you wonderful." in answer to any and every question, I think . . . but you must tell me if I'm hopelessly out of date about this . . . if I were a man, I'd pick me out the prettiest woman I could find and one who would never say more than that . . . after all you can't enjoy cuddling a woman if you suspect her of working a problem in calculus with lightning-like rapidity while you're doing it . . . nor can you enjoy protecting her if you know she's more than capable of doing it herself . . .

I would like Charlotte to be dainty . . . I hope she has small hands with slender fingers . . . slim legs and ankles and small narrow feet . . . alas, that dates me! . . . the young girls that I see today seem to glory in their bigness . . . unless fashion swings about in the next decade, I shall have to save her father's old shoes for her . . . I would like Charlotte to be fastidious . . . what fun will I have when she's in high school, if I have to buy her those enormous, sloppy sweaters that hang in folds below her waist? . . . or those pleated skirts of bold plaid that barely cover the buttocks and display the backs of huge thighs? . . . I'll never like big fat legs that end in wooly socks falling down over dirty flatheeled golf shoes . . . and why do they HAVE to be dirty? . . . when you and I were in our teens we'd have starved ourselves before we'd become hippy . . . those of our friends who were unfortunate enough to have fat legs always covered them with long skirts . . . remember? . . . now a days, I can tell a young girl from a young boy even if they're a block away and the girl has slacks on, because the girl is exactly twice as wide as the boy . . . do tell me that I'm exaggerating and that by the time Charlotte is in high school I'll have mellowed down and not feel so strongly about all this . . .

Charlotte has just departed for a walk with her father and two older brothers . . . she simply wriggled with pleasure and excitement in spite of the fact that she was dressed in a polo shirt and a pair of overalls, handed down through Davy and Louis to her . . . she had a beret on the back of her head that came not only from Davy and Louis, but cousins Benny and Bobby as well . . . ah me! . . . have I just been dreaming of a dainty and fastidious daughter? . . . I'm enclosing a sketch of Charlotte and little Danny Greer . . . I made it one Sunday afternoon when I did have her dressed as I would like her to be always . . . I don't dress her in dainty clothes very often because she's still too much of a baby to keep herself clean . . . I think white dresses, slips, panties and shoes are beautiful if they're spotless, but I hate them if they're soiled . . . a baby is beautiful to me only when it's spotless . . . you wouldn't notice one more wart on a wart hog, but a wart on a rose would be repulsive . . . or don't you think so? . . .

Davy has become such a help to me that I find myself frequently thinking, if he can do so much, what will not Charlotte be able to do when she's six . . . it isn't that I want help from my children so much as it is the companionship I look forward to . . . there is no question now about Davy and Louis preferring to be with their father . . . I'm still first if they're sick or frightened but these times Deos Gratias, are not very often . . . I so hope Charlotte will like to cook, keep house and sew with me . . . I can't expect real interest in these things from the boys . . . just at present she can stand on her head as well as Louis, she can imitate the noise of a plane as well as Davy . . . if you show her a magaine she points out the trucks and trains . . . to be sure, she has a family of three dolls, Patsy, Gladys and Gwendoline, but she flings them down on their heads if either of her adored brothers appears . . . from the way things look now, I can expect some day in the future when I ask her to sew with me, to have her grab up a baseball bat and say to me as she flings out of the house, "Sorry Mom, but I'm on the team" . . . well . . . I can still dream and hope can't I? . . .

We all send our love and I wait anxiously for your next letter.

As always,
Eleanore.

"Back the Attack"

A Letter From Bud

Ma and me just wrote Bud a sad letter
For the news that we had to convey,
Was the death of our Old Friend and Neighbor
Buddie's Hero and Pal — Daddy Gray.

This old Soldier and Bud was real Cronies
From the time that Boy was just four,
When he won Buddie's heart with his stories
Of the Battles in our Civil War.

I remember my Father a tellin'
When them Soldiers had fired their last guns,
How Bob Gray came back home and got married
And in time had two wonderful sons.

But the years were not kind to this Soldier
And before his two boys was full grown,
God had made them a home up in Heaven
Leavin' two broken hearts to bemoan.

When the first Autumn leaves started fallin'
Then that Mother's heart wavered and died,
So he buried her there on the Hilltop
With the sons that she loved by her side.

Then for years Daddy Gray kept on farmin'
'Til his strength failed and eyesight grew dim,
Still his old, weary feet beat a pathway
To that Hilltop that beckoned to him.

Up there 'neath the big weepin' willows
In the shadows them marble stones cast,
He would work with the flowers he had planted
While he lived in his dreams of the past.

And t'was there Ma and me found him layin'
With his eyes closed and breath comin' hard,
Close behind him on that windswept Hilltop
His Old Dog stood a last, lonely guard.

Then we carried our Old Friend and Neighbor
On that pitiful path down the Hill,
He aroused once to say "How's my Buddy"
Then he smiled and his slight form grew still

From his smile we knew Daddy was meetin'
His own loved ones on that yonder shore,
Thru our tears Ma and me was a prayin'
As he passed thru God's wide open door.

Then the G.A.R. handled his fun'ral
Soundin' "Taps" as they laid him away,
But we know the Old Vet'rans in Heaven
Welcomed him with a sweet Reveille.

So he's sleepin' there high on the Hilltop
With his sons and the wife of his love,
'Neath the flowers that he tenderly planted
While the Flag that he served floats above.
